

WORLD ATHLETICS

World Athletics is the governing body for the sport of athletics including track and field, cross country running, road running, racewalking, mountain running and ultrarunning. The World Athletics Label Road Races program gathers the world's leading road races.

A World Athletics Label denotes a full application of the competition and technical rules in, at a minimum, the elite component of the competition. Labels also denote superior standards in event organization, safety, runner experience, and support from public authorities to the event as well as financial commitment to anti-doping.

"Elite," "Gold" and "Platinum" Labels indicate the existence of a world-class elite competition.

The Houston Marathon Committee (HMC) is the only race organizer in the United States to hold Gold Label status. The World Athletics Label has only assigned two races the Gold Label accreditation in the United States. Those two races are the Chevron Houston Marathon and the Aramco Houston Half Marathon, both held on the same day every winter here in Houston, Texas. Furthermore, the HMC is the only race organizer globally to host a Gold Label marathon and Gold Label half marathon on the same day.

CITY OF HOUSTON-

John Whitmire

Mayor

P.O. Box 1562 Houston, Texas 77251-1562

Telephone – Dial 311 www.houstontx.gov

January 2, 2024

Greetings,

As Mayor of Houston, it is my pleasure to welcome the participants and supporters of the 2024 Chevron Houston Marathon, Aramco Houston Half Marathon and We Are Houston 5K presented by Aramco and Chevron.

The 3-day weekend of events showcases Houston's cityscapes, culture and comradery. It also brings together more than 300,000 spectators, runners and volunteers to produce Houston's largest single-day sporting event on race-day Sunday. Once again, this year the race will feature 34,000 participants including a renowned field of some of the world's most talented professional runners set for record breaking performances.

As Houstonians, we believe that civic celebration is vital to the spirit of Houston and it is that belief, over the past 52 years, that has made the Houston Marathon a cherished tradition for us all. Annually, thousands of Houstonians volunteer their time, businesses offer their support and organizers work diligently to create an event that serves as a symbol of achievement for elite athletes and every day runners alike.

I'd like to extend a heartfelt thank you to each of these generous sponsors and volunteers who unite annually to create this time-honored event and invite each of you as participants to do the same as you navigate your way through the bustle of the weekend.

The race is full of motivation and inspiration as the local community continues to display an overwhelming feeling of comradery in its rebuilding efforts. I encourage you to take in the enthusiasm the city has for each of you as runners, contribute to the positive energy of the events and truly be a part of the Houston spirit!

On behalf of the citizens of Houston, good luck and best wishes for a successful and memorable race.

Sincerely,

John Whitmire

WELCOME TO HOUSTON

WADE MOREHEADExecutive Director,
Houston Marathon Committee, Inc.

On behalf of the Houston Marathon Committee (HMC), it is our pleasure to welcome you to our world-class weekend of events which continues to reach new heights as we celebrate our 52nd anniversary of the Houston Marathon.

What began in 1972 as a 26.2-mile run around Memorial Park, race day now consists of two World Athletics Gold Labeled events hosted simultaneously on our flat, fast, city-wide courses that highlight many of Houston's most iconic sites. Nearly 300,000 runners, volunteers, and spectators make the Chevron Houston Marathon and Aramco Houston Half Marathon the largest single-day sporting event in Houston.

Not only has the number of people who Run, Cheer, and Volunteer grown significantly over the past five decades, race day has also evolved into a Weekend of Events.

The We Are Houston 5K presented by Aramco and Chevron is conducted on Saturday and features over 6,000 registrants, while approximately 50,000 guests will visit the two-day Houston Marathon Health & Fitness EXPO presented by Houston Methodist. Party on The Plaza presented by HoustonFirst in front the George R. Brown Convention Center on Friday night is the place to be with music and refreshments for the entire city to enjoy. The race day after-party for registrants and anyone who wants to join us on Saturday and Sunday is held at RunFest, presented by Michelob Ultra at Discovery Green Park, on Jones Lawn.

While we are proud of the evolution of race weekend, we are truly honored to have the opportunity to celebrate the many PR's, milestones, and record-setting performances, with all of you each year.

This year will be no different as the HMC hosts approximately 300 Athletes with Disabilities (AWD) and their guides, which is the largest field in the ten-year history of the program. Additionally, this year the Houston Marathon Foundation will provide free entry, transportation, shoes, shirts, and training support to 750 local at-risk students from 25 schools and programs. This is also the highest total number of students since the inception of the We Run Houston after-school running program, which will increase the total number of participating students to over 5,000 children introduced to the many benefits of running over the past decade. Increasing accessibility to this beloved sport is a responsibility that continues to drive us and our goals of welcoming more new runners year after year.

We wish to show our appreciation to the tens of thousands of runners who have selflessly fundraised for the Chevron Houston Marathon Run for a Reason (RFAR) charity program since it was created in 1995. The RFAR program recently surpassed the $36 million milestone raised for local charities, and that total continues to grow.

To host a hallmark event of this size and nature, it takes a village and we are so grateful to be supported by the Mayor's Office of Special Events, Houston First, Public Works, METRO, and all Houston public safety agencies. This weekend would not be possible without the support of the thousands of volunteers, public servants, officials, charities, businesses, and the best running community in the world.

A special thank you to our sponsors, especially to our Houston Marathon title sponsor Chevron, and Aramco Americas which is celebrating their 20th year as the title sponsor of the Houston Half Marathon.

We look forward to watching you make your mark on these city streets. Thank you for trusting us to host you for another unforgettable year.

Wey. Mhl

ABOUT THE HOUSTON MARATHON COMMITTEE, INC.

Founded in 1972, the HMC is a founding member of Running USA and organizes the nation's premier winter marathon, half marathon, and 5K hosting over 300,000 participants, volunteers, and spectators on race day. Recognized by World Athletics, the Gold Label Chevron Houston Marathon has been the race site for three U.S. Olympic Trials Marathons. The Gold Label Aramco Houston Half Marathon has hosted 16 U.S. Half Marathon Championships. The HMC received Gold Label Certification from the Council for Responsible Sport from 2011 to 2020. The event also garnered the 2015 AIMS Green Award for industry-leading sustainability initiatives. Race weekend generates over $50 million in economic impact for the region annually and has raised over $36 million through the Run for a Reason Charity Program since its inception in 1995. The event is broadcast live on ABC13 and syndicated nationally and internationally on ESPN3 and the Longhorn Network.

5-mile loop at Memorial Park

Men's Winner: Danny Green 2:32:33 Women's Winner: Tanya Trantham 5:11:55

Run over a five-mile loop at Memorial Park at the end of December, the inaugural Houston Marathon drew 113 runners and about twice that many spectators. Race director Pete League, who would serve in that capacity until 1976, ensured that the course was measured properly so it could be certified by the AAU, with assistance from distance running legend Ted Corbitt.

Danny Green, who went on to become one of the nation's top high school track and cross country coaches at The Woodlands, overtook Clyde Villamez after the 24-mile mark and went on to win in 2:32:33. Green told the Houston Chronicle in 2002, "We were doing those loops in Memorial Park, and my family would be telling me where I was and where he (Villamez) was... I never ran any faster. I was never able to break that (2:32:33)."

14-year-old Tanya Trantham was the first female finisher, crossing the line in 5:11:55. In 35th place overall was Frank Stranahan, better known as a top amateur golfer, who was the 1952 British Open runner-up.

5-mile loop at Memorial Park
Men's Winner: Juan Garza 2:37:47
Women's Winner: Nancy Laird 4:29:07 (CR)

Juan Garza, who went on to be an NCAA Division I national cross country qualifier in 1974 for Pan American University, won the second edition of the Houston Marathon by three minutes over Dennis Manske, one of the largest winning margins in race history. Manske ran three more times at Houston, including a 2:39:59 in 1991 after a 16-year hiatus.

Nancy Laird was the women's champion, and was also the Gulf AAU LDR chair who asked race director Pete League to help develop more distance events in the Houston area. Laird returned to the race in 1975 and finished more than 30 minutes faster than her debut time.

Men's Winner: tie, Clent Mericle & Juan Garza

2:35:00

Women's Winner: Dorothy Doolittle 3:31:24 (CR)

Two Rio Grande Valley foes used to duking it out on the track and in cross country ended up in a virtual dead heat in the third Houston Marathon. After a year off in 1974, the race returned for the final time to Memorial Park, where former Texas A&I Javelina Clent Mericle and 1973 winner Juan Garza (Pan American U.) both crossed the line in 2:35:00.

Top honors in the five-runner women's race went to Dorothy Doolittle, who ended up 48th overall in 3:31:24. Doolittle would go on to win one more time (1977) and earn renown as a collegiate and high school track and field coach, including a stint at the University of Houston.

Men's Winner: Jeff Wells 2:17:46 (CR) Women's Winner: Marsha Johnson 3:37:04

Rice cross country and track star Jeff Wells ran in the inaugural Houston Marathon in 1972, finishing in 2:38:44, but in 1976 he ran his first serious race and destroyed the course record with a 2:17:46. At the time it was the tenth-fastest clocking ever by a collegiate runner in the marathon. John Lodwick, a Rice teammate, was second at 2:26:15, also under the old course record, and 1975 champ Clent Mericle was third at 2:29:37.

Wells was part of one of the closest finishes in Boston Marathon history in 1978, coming across the line only two seconds adrift of Bill Rodgers, who won at 2:10:13. He was a two-time Olympic Trials finalist in the 10,000 meters and was on Team USA at the 1977 and 1978 IAAF World Cross Country Championships. Wells ran three more times at Houston, including a 2:29:16 in 1996 at age 41.

An 18-year-old, Marsha Johnson, was the women's winner at 3:37:04. She would run the race six more times, with a best time of 3:16:09 in 1981.

Men's Winner: Clent Mericle 2:27:46

Women's Winner: Dorothy Doolittle 3:00:34 (CR)

George Kleeman took over as race director in 1977 as the race was held at Memorial Park for the final time. Clent Mericle, the 1975 co-winner, picked up the win by himself this go-around, covering the distance in 2:27:46. University of Houston legend and Olympian Leonard Hilton was the pre-race favorite, but fell victim to cramps as he was leading at 23 miles, finishing 11th at 2:39:33. Rice sophomore Chuck Jewell was the runner-up at 2:28:39 and edged out Mark Walter for the Junior title.

Improving her own course record from the 1975 race, Dorothy Doolittle won the women's crown at 3:00:34 and was 54th overall. Jack Lippincott, who ran his 40th-consecutive Houston Marathon in 2014, had his highest placing in '77, taking 12th overall.

1978

January 21 788 started, 567 finished Course started downtown, went out to 610 via Memorial Drive, then back downtown

Men's Winner: Ron Tabb 2:17:11 (CR) Women's Winner: Peggy Kokernot 3:01:54

Frigid weather and a new course welcomed 23-year-old Missourian Ron Tabb, who ran away from the field to win by almost six minutes in 2:17:11 over David Odom. Tabb's time lowered the previous race record of 2:17:46, set by Jeff Wells in 1976. The temperature at the start was 27 degrees, and it didn't warm up much over the duration of the race, but it didn't stop a Houston-record 127 runners from breaking 3:00:00.

Women's winner Peggy Kokernot had gained national notoriety in December 1977, appearing on the cover of Time magazine as part of a story on the International Year of the Woman, a nationwide event that culminated in Houston and included a torch relay. Kokernot, a college athlete at Trinity University, stepped in for a 16-mile stretch in Alabama that was under boycott by local runners, keeping the relay going. She was one of three women selected to carry the torch the last mile and entered the Sam Houston Coliseum to raucous applause. Kokernot, who won by more than seven minutes in 3:01:54, helped the push to add the marathon for women to the Olympic program, and she went on to host the popular P.M. Magazine show in San Antonio.

Men's Winner: Tom Antczak 2:15:28 (CR) Women's Winner: Sue Petersen 2:46:17 (CR)

What started out as a two-man race turned into a coronation and course record for Tom Antczak of Wisconsin, who chopped almost two minutes off Ron Tabb's 1978 record with his 2:15:28. Antczak, a Wisconsin-La Crosse graduate who qualified for three U.S. Olympic Trials marathons and went on to a storied coaching career at Wisconsin-Platteville, ran the first 22 miles with Duke's Scott Eden before pulling away as Eden struggled over the final four miles. Eden also finished under the previous race record with his 2:16:21.

Windy conditions held back women's winner Sue Petersen, but the 34-year-old Californian still smashed the existing race record and won by eight minutes as she ran side-by-side with her husband, Pete. In winning the national AAU title, Petersen reinforced her world top-10 ranking and brought Houston into the realm of an elite women's race.

Men's Winner: Ron Tabb 2:13:36 (CR)

Women's Winner: Vanessa Vajdos 2:44:45 (CR)

Two years after his initial win and course record, Ron Tabb returned with a vengeance to crush the since-lowered record in 2:13:36, overcoming windy and humid conditions and a strong challenge from Britain's Chris Stewart. Tabb was running at 2:11 pace through 22 miles before the wind ended any hopes of a faster time. Stewart finished just over a minute back at 2:14:44. Tabb later placed fourth in the 1980 Olympic Trials marathon and was second at Boston in 1983 with a PR 2:09:31. He also represented the U.S. at the inaugural World Championships in Helsinki in 1983, finishing 18th at 2:13:38.

A close-as-can-be finish in the women's race saw Vanessa Vajdos edge Memorial High School coach Donna Burge by a second in 2:44:45, setting a course record. Vajdos, a New Braunfels chiropractor, ran together with her close friend Burge all the way before outleaning her at the line. She finished 10th in 1981 at the Ottawa Avon International Women's Marathon, the putative world championships at the

January 10 • 2,408 finishers Men's Winner: Bill Rodgers 2:12:19 (CR) Women's Winner: Patti Catalano 2:35:28 (CR)

The reigning king of American marathoners made his first appearance at Houston a memorable one, as Bill Rodgers rolled to a course-record 2:12:19 to win by 30 seconds over Dick Beardsley. Rodgers, known as "Boston Billy" after winning that race four times and setting an American Record of 2:09:27 in 1979, also had four New York titles on his resume. Reaching the halfway point in 1:04:46, near world record pace, Rodgers and Beardsley were still in contact, but at 16 miles Rodgers made his move. Two miles later a stomach upset and quick trip into the woods threatened to derail his title run, but Beardsley also suffered stomach cramps and Rodgers held on to win. Defending champion Ron Tabb withdrew at 14 miles with a bone spur in his left heel.

As the first U.S. woman to run under 2:30, Patti Catalano was the pre-race favorite and she fulfilled those expectations with a course record 2:35:28. But it wasn't easy. Laurie Binder ran the race of her life to that point, shadowing Catalano until less than two miles remained. The duo bumped each other and both runners were unbalanced, with Binder taking the lead. That lead lasted until the final quarter-mile, where Catalano regained the lead and sprinted to the win while Binder slashed her personal best by three minutes with a 2:35:31.

January 24 • 1,861 finishers Men's Winner: Benji Durden 2:11:11 (CR) Women's Winner: Laurie Binder 2:40:57

Five years, five course records. But this time the record wasn't set by the pre-race favorite. Heading into the race, most talk was about defending champ Bill Rodgers and runner-up Dick Beardsley, with Benji Durden almost an afterthought. Durden turned all the attention to himself, though, running a relatively easy 2:11:11 to set a new standard and smoked some of the sport's biggest names. He finished more than a minute-and-a-half ahead of Beardsley, who was second for the second year in a row, while Rodgers faded to fifth at 2:14:52 after a whirlwind week of promotional appearances and sales meetings to bolster his line of running apparel. Durden and Beardsley worked together from the eight-mile mark to drop Rodgers and then took turns pushing the pace. At 18 miles Beardsley didn't take his turn and Durden moved away and on to the win.

After a second-place finish the previous year, Laurie Binder stepped atop the podium with a 2:40:57, taking control of the race after seven miles and never being challenged. Binder told the Houston Post that she was "pretty uncomfortable" over the final 10 kilometers, running by herself and having to try to maintain her pace. Kathleen Molitor was second at 2:43:02.

January 16 • 2,060 finishers Men's Winner: Hailu Ebba (Ethiopia) 2:12:17 Women's Winner: Ingrid Kristiansen (Norway) 2:33:27 (CR)

Eleven years into the life of the Houston Marathon, the world showed up. For the first time ever, international athletes swept the titles, with Ethiopia's Hailu Ebba outkicking defending champ Benji Durden to take men's top honors by three seconds in 2:12:17, and Norway's superstar Ingrid Kristiansen clipping more than two minutes off the course record with her 2:33:27 to beat reigning champ Laurie Binder by nine seconds.

Ebba, an Oregon State graduate who was an Olympic semifinalist at 1500 meters in 1972, saw Ron Tabb sprint away to an early lead, which stretched to 300 yards at the halfway mark. Tabb fell off at 15 miles, where Ebba, Durden and local favorite Marty Froelick of Rice took over the lead. Those three kept the lead, and it wasn't until the final few yards that Ebba's patented kick (he had a 1:47 800 PR) pushed him past Durden.

Binder was the leader in the women's race through 14 miles, where Kristiansen took over. They stayed close the rest of the way and the Norwegian staved off a last-gasp challenge from Binder over the final 100 yards. Former Lamar University runner Midde Hamrin of Sweden was third, also under the previous record with her 2:35:06.

Men's Winner: Charlie Spedding (Great Britain)

2:11:54

Women's Winner: Ingrid Kristiansen (Norway)

2:27:51 (CR)

In baseball, the tie goes to the runner. At the '84 Houston Marathon, the tie went to Charlie Spedding. A situation that was unprecedented saw Britain's Spedding awarded the win after a dead-heat finish with Massimo Magnani of Italy. There was no finish-line camera, so it was up to the race staff to determine whose torso crossed the line first. Race director David Hannah, after much consultation, announced that Spedding had edged Magnani, and that announcement sparked an immediate protest by the Italian.

A big pack that included '82 winner Benji Durden went through the 10-mile mark together before Dean Matthews opened up a lead through 13 miles. Magnani and John Wellerding took over then and started to move away from the pack that included Spedding. Spedding and Mark Finucane split from the chase pack and with just over a mile to go, four men were in contention. Making up a three-yard deficit over the final 30 yards, Spedding did just enough to earn the title.

Less dramatic, but no less impressive, was Ingrid Kristiansen's second straight win in the women's race. A completely dominant performance broke her own course record by more than five minutes at 2:27:51. The Norwegian would go on to win the 10,000 at the 1987 World Championships in Rome after a fourth-place effort in the inaugural women's Olympic marathon at Los Angeles in '84.

January 6 • 1,890 finishers Men's Winner: Marty Froelick 2:11:14

Women's Winner: Sýlvia Ruegger (Canada) 2:28:36

Running earlier in the month than usual, athletes in the 13th edition saw UTEP steeplechaser Sam Ngatia of Kenya take off and establish a comfortable lead after the 14-mile mark. In his marathon debut, Ngatia had more than a minute on Rice's Marty Froelick and Wolfgang Krueger of West Germany at 20 miles, running at sub-2:10 pace. That's when the wheels came off for Ngatia, though, as he was hobbled by blisters and was reeled in by Froelick. Cutting the gap steadily into the final mile, Froelick finally passed Ngatia with just under a half-mile to go and went on to just miss the course record with his 2:11:14.

Froelick's time was likely the fastest ever on the course. However, a recent TAC rule change mandated that certified courses be one-tenth of a percent longer than the standard distance of 26 miles, 385 yards, so his record was not certified.

Two Canadians fought it out for the women's title, with top honors going to 1984 Olympic eighth-placer Sylvia Ruegger in 2:28:36, almost a minute ahead of Jacqueline Gareau. The duo ran together for 22 miles before Ruegger started to pull away and win in only her third marathon ever. She lowered her own national record in the process.

January 19 • 2,620 finishers

Men's Winner: Paul Cummings 2:11:31

Women's Winner: Veronique Marot (Great Britain)

A new single-loop course that covered more of the city set the stage for a pair of contrasting races. Britain's Veronique Marot, the third-placer in 1985, was a gun-to-tape winner in the women's race, clocking 2:31:33 to beat U.S. legend Francie Larrieu-Smith in her marathon debut. Larrieu-Smith, a fourtime Olympian who would eventually take 12th in the '92 marathon at Barcelona, stayed within 30 seconds of Marot through 20 miles, but couldn't make a real dent in the lead as she finished at 2:33:36.

Sub-4:00 miler and 1984 10K Olympian Paul Cummings made the most of his footspee'd over the last 5K to outleg Canada's David Edge by eight seconds in 2:11:31. Those two had to make up a lot of ground in the final half of the race to catch defending champ Marty Froelick, who had a 26-second edge after 21 miles. By 23 miles Froelick was out of contention, and Cummings sealed the win over the final quarter-mile.

The new course also drew in more volunteers, going from 950 in 1985 to 2,500 in '86.

Men's Winner: Derrick May (South Africa) 2:11:51 Women's Winner: Bente Moe (Norway) 2:32:37

A collegian and a collegiate coach picked up the hardware as Seattle Pacific University's Bente Moe of Norway captured the women's title and South Africa's Derrick May, an assistant coach at Nevada-Reno, won the men's race. Moe's biggest issue on the day came post-race, as she had to decide whether to accept the $22,000 prize money and forego her NCAA eligibility. From seven miles on Moe was basically unchallenged, winning by more than three minutes in 2:32:37 on a day that saw gusty winds lower the temperature from 43 to 38 degrees over the duration of the event.

Basically an unknown coming into the race, May eased into the lead pack at 10 miles, challenging a group of three that included 1985 runner-up Sam Ngatia by 17 miles. Hanging with Ngatia for the next seven miles, May made a decisive move at 24 miles and won at 2:11:51, 15 seconds ahead of Norway's Geir Kvernmo, who was running only his second marathon.

The race also served as the U.S. men's championship, with Ric Sayre the top American in seventh at 2:13:54 to earn a spot on the Pan American Games squad.

Women's Winner: Linda Zeman 2:34:52

Sometimes, it's just your day. And it certainly was for Linda Zeman, who stunned everyone by easily winning the women's race with a huge personal best as she became the first-ever "uninvited" woman to mount the podium. After deciding to run the race on January 1 as a part of her New Year's resolutions, Zeman crushed her previous PR by eight minutes to clock 2:34:52, more than a minute ahead of the runner-up. Hotter-than-usual conditions at the start also affected the race, with the temperature at 64 degrees and the humidity at 85%.

Moving up a place from his runner-up finish in set a Norwegian record of 2:10:17 to place fifth at London in 1987, cranked up the pace at the halfway mark and held a 30-second lead over Garcia at 21

and closer, but he couldn't close the gap completely and ended up six seconds back.

January 15 • 3,195 finishers Men's Winner: Richard Kaitany (Kenya) 2:10:04

Women's Winner: Veronique Marot (Great Britain) 2:30:16

Heavy fog at the race start limited visibility to less than 50 yards, but a little more than two hours later it was abundantly clear that no one could match the quality of former lowa State runner Richard Kaitany of Kenya, who set a course record of 2:10:04 to win by more than 90 seconds. Those four seconds on the end of his time were heartbreaking, though, as Kaitany missed out on a $10,000 bonus on offer to the first man to break 2:10. He had run 2:09:39 at Chicago the previous October and said he would have gone under the bonus time if only there had been a clock for him to see as he raced to the finish. Kaitany and '88 winner Geir Kvernmo were together through 17 miles, where the Kenyan felt jostled and took off, never to be challenged again.

Three years after her first Houston victory, Britain's Veronique Marot ran with Maria Trujillo and Norway's Sissel Grottenberg for the first 10 miles before moving away and easing to the win more than two minutes ahead of Kim Jones at 2:30:16. Three months later, on April 23, Marot ran the best race of her career to win at London in 2:25:56.

January 14 • 3,237 finishers Men's Winner: Paul Pilkington 2:11:13 Women's Winner: Maria Trujillo 2:32:55

Former Weber State steeplechaser Paul Pilkington had all cylinders firing on the way to his career-best 2:11:13 win, the third-fastest time ever at Houston. Race veteran Sam Ngatia of Kenya, who had tried five times previously to win, had the lead at the halfway point and stayed with Pilkington through 18 miles, but the American was clearly stronger and powered away to win his first marathon in six starts.

With thoughts of her late-race fade the previous year, Maria Trujillo staved off Germany's Kerstin Pressler over the last eight miles to win at 2:32:55. The German was on Trujillo's shoulder at 18 miles, but cited fatigue and the course's hills for her failure to maintain that challenge, finishing second at 2:34:49.

January 20 • 3,798 finishers Men's Winner: Carey Nelson (Canada) 2:12:28 Women's Winner: Veronique Marot (Great Britain) 2:30:55

Strong winds blew throughout the race, gusting to 15 mph, but they couldn't stop Britain's Veronique Marot from becoming the first-ever three-time women's champion at 2:30:55. Marot, who also won in '86 and '89, ran with Denmark's Dorthe Rasmussen for 17 miles and then took off and created a two-minute gap over the runner-up. One year later at Barcelona, Marot would finish 16th in the Olympic marathon.

Men's champion Carey Nelson of Canada, a 5K Olympian in 1988, won his second straight marathon in 2:12:28, the slowest winning time since Ron Tabb's 2:13:36 in 1980. Contending with Czechoslovakia's Martin Vrabel through 23 miles, Nelson's winning move made up a 30-yard gap and he sprinted on to win by 12 seconds over Vrabel. Nelson finished 35th in the '96 Olympic marathon at Atlanta.

January 26 • 3,789 finishers Men's Winner: Filemon Lopez (Mexico) 2:13:12 Women's Winner: Kimberley Webb 2:50:17 Women's Olympic Trials Winner: Janis Klecker 2:30:12

Houston '92 served as the U.S. Olympic Trials race for women and it lived up to its potential. Top-seeded Kim Jones dropped after three miles with an ankle injury, leaving '88 Olympian Cathy O'Brien and four-time Olympian Francie Larrieu-Smith to contend with Janis Klecker, who was running for her sixth time on the course. A strategic race dictated a moderate pace, and the turning point came at a water stop at 15 miles when Klecker got her feet tangled and fell. O'Brien helped her up.

Those two got back on pace and at 20 miles O'Brien broke away to open up a 20+-second margin over Klecker by 23 miles. Klecker and Larrieu-Smith worked together to close the gap and Klecker was 100 yards adrift of O'Brien with just over a mile to go. With less than a quarter-mile left, Klecker moved ahead for good and won by 14 seconds in 2:30:12, with O'Brien and Larrieu-Smith claiming the other two Olympic berths. For Larrieu-Smith, it was to be her fifth Olympic team.

Mexico's Filemon Lopez was looking for his own qualifying time for his national Olympic team (2:11), but the pesky winds and his solo run late in the race put paid to those hopes. Lopez and Michael Heilmann of Germany opened up a 200-yard lead on the pack by 10 miles, but just before the 11-mile point Heilmann had to stop and tie his shoe and he could never reclaim the time that cost as Lopez moved away and eventually crossed the line at 2:13:12.

Men's Winner: Frank Bjorkli (Norway) 2:13:21 Women's Winner: Kristy Johnston 2:29:05

Scandinavian-like weather, with wind chills in the 30-degree range and 30 mph gusts, played into the hands of Norway's Frank Bjorkli, who was running only his second marathon. Defending champ Filemon Lopez dropped at 10 miles due to leg cramps, leaving Bjorkli, '90 champion Paul Pilkington and Mark Plaatjes to work the next seven miles. After Pillkington and Plaatjes began to drop, Bjorkli's way was clear and the story was Sean Wade's charge from 15th to second place over the final stretch. Bjorkli clocked 2:13:21, with Wade second at 2:16:09. Plaatjes would be the story of American marathoning later in the year with his stunning win at the World Championships in Stuttgart.

The conditions didn't bother women's winner Kristy Johnston at all, apparently, as she knocked 10 minutes off her personal best with a 2:29:05 that was the third fastest ever on the course. At the halfway mark Johnston was running with Hungary's Karolina Szabo and Russia's Albina Gallyamova, and she began to move away from those two, throwing down her fastest mile of the day at 17 miles to virtually guarantee her win. Gallyamova was second, more than two minutes behind Johnston.

Men's Winner: Colin Moore (Great Britain) 2:13:34 Women's Winner: Alevtina Naumova (Russia)

Slow times were the order of the day in damp and windy conditions, with veteran Russian Alevtina Naumova taking advantage of the neophyte tactics of Ukraine's Tetyana Pozdnyakova to claim the women's win and Britain's Colin Moore running a very business-like race to take top men's honors. Naumova let Pozdnyakova go when the Ukrainian surged at nine miles, and there was a minute gap by 17 miles, with Trina Painter joining Naumova in the chase. Debutante Pozdnyakova hit the proverbial wall after mile 19, and Naumova continued to gain ground. She took the lead at 25 miles and went on to the win at 2:34:47, 22 seconds ahead of Pozdnyakova.

Brick mason Moore and Canada's Peter Fonseca were the leaders after 15 miles, breaking away from the field. Nearing the final miles, Moore took advantage of Fonseca's cramping problems to take the lead for good at 25 miles and win by 19 seconds at 2:13:34.

Men's Winner: Peter Fonseca (Canada) 2:11:52 Women's Winner: Tetyana Pozdnyakova (Ukraine)

2:29:57

Third time was a charm for men's winner Peter Fonseca of Canada, while second time was lucky for Tetyana Pozdnyakova of Ukraine in the women's race. On the heels of fourth-place and second-place finishes his past two tries in '92 and '94, Portugal-based Fonseca settled in at a fast pace with Norway's Terje Naess and New Zealand's Sean Wade. The trio was together through 23 miles before a Fonseca surge dropped Wade. On the run in to the finish Fonseca had the better speed and came away with the win at 2:11:52.

Falling victim to "The Wall" in her debut the previous year, Pozdnyakova didn't make any mistakes this time around. Taking the lead from Tatyana Titova of Russia at 15 miles, Pozdnyakova stretched the margin to more than two minutes by 21 miles and cruised to the win at 2:29:57, more than four minutes ahead of runner-up Suzanna Ciric of Yugoslavia.

A near wrong turn almost cost Ethiopia's Turbo Tumo the men's title, and a positive drug test did cost the women's winner her second straight title. Tumo was the best of the deepest field in race history, with four men dipping under 2:11. Pacesetters Justin Chaston and Jon Warren carried the field through the halfway mark before dropping to let a group of six that included Tumo, Britain's Steve Brace, Russia's Leonid Shvetsov and New Zealand's Sean Wade take over. Tumo and Brace moved to the front over the final three miles and as Tumo was making the final turn to the finish he erroneously tried to follow the lead motorcycle. Notified quickly of his error, Tumo corrected it and outsprinted Brace to win by one second at 2:10:34, the second-fastest time ever on the course.

Defending champion Tetyana Pozdnyakova of Ukraine made a late-race surge to close a two-minute gap and win at 2:31:03, but was later disqualified after failing a doping test. Runner-up Adriana Fernandez of Mexico was elevated to champion with her 2:31:59.

Men's Winner: Ake Eriksson (Sweden) 2:19:01 Women's Winner: Claudia Dreher (Germany)

The most miserable conditions in the history of the event turned the '97 race into a battle for survival, not speed. With the temperature never rising above 31 degrees, and sleet falling, a pair of Europeans picked up their first Houston wins. Claudia Dreher of Germany made her debut a memorable one, running the first few miles with a small group before assuming an insurmountable lead at seven miles on the way to a 2:36:13 win. In her wake, Betsey Kempter was runner-up more than three minutes back and 1995 champ Tetyana Pozdnyakova placed third. Those three were the only women under 2:40 on the day.

Ake Eriksson, who notched a 2:10:53 PR to take fourth at Chicago in 1990, followed the early pace made by Sean Wade and Jon Warren until Wade dropped at 10 miles and Ethiopia's Bedaso Turbe joined Warren at the front. Turbe turned on the jets and opened up a big lead until mile 21, where the engines sputtered and he was passed by Eriksson and Australia's Shaun Creighton. Creighton crumbled after 23 miles, leaving Eriksson alone to win by more than two minutes.

Men's Winner: Stephen Ndungu (Kenya) 2:11:23

Women's Winner: Gwyn Coogan 2:33:37

Competing for a U.S. championship brought out the best of the women's field, with 22 women breaking 2:50 and eight going sub-2:42. The best of them? Gwyn Coogan. Coogan, a '92 Olympian at 10,000 meters, kept to her pre-race plan in the muggy conditions, letting Linda Somers take the early lead. Recovering from a fall three miles in, Coogan and Kim Jones steadily moved up and caught Somers Smith at 10 miles. From there, Coogan kept pushing the pace and opened up a two-minute lead by 24 miles. She kept that margin through the finish at 2:33:37, ahead of Jones and Somers Smith. Coogan earned a $30,000 payday and the total purse of $100,500 was the largest ever for a USATF women's national championship.

In his second race at the distance, Kenya's Stephen Ndungu showed a foretaste of things to come with a dominant win to lead a sweep of the top three men's spots by Kenyan runners. Dissatisfied with the early pace, Ndungu pushed ahead at nine miles and had an easy time of it in winning at 2:11:23.

Warm and humid conditions again played a role in the outcome, but couldn't stop Stephen Ndungu of Kenya from winning his second straight title and leading fellow countrymen Sammy Maritim and Gideon Mutisya to a 1-2-3 repeat of the '98 finish. Ndungu almost didn't make it to the line, though, fighting off physical problems at 15 miles before recovering and winning by nine seconds.

Another former champion, 1995 winner Tetyana Pozdnyakova of Ukraine, didn't push the pace, biding her time behind Ethiopia's Elfenesh Alemu most of the race before grabbing the lead after 22 miles while Alemu faded a bit due to fatigue and the lingering effects of a cold. Pozdnyakova nabbed her second official title at 2:33:23, three minutes ahead of Russia's Zinaida Semenova, with Alemu a disappointed third. 1996 Olympic gymnastics gold medalist Kerri Strug was a noteworthy finisher at 4:12:06.

Men's Winner: Stephen Ndungu (Kenya) 2:11:28 Women's Winner: Tetyana Pozdnyakova (Ukraine)

2:32:25

The first race of the new millennium had a pair of very familiar faces atop the podium after all the running was done, with Kenya's Stephen Ndungu completing a hat trick with his third straight men's victory in 2:11:28 and ageless Tetyana Pozdnyakova of Ukraine also picking up a third career women's title at 2:32:25.

This was perhaps the easiest of Ndungu's three wins. Unhappy with uneven pacesetting, Ndungu made the best of a bad situation and took over the lead at 19 miles and finished more than two minutes ahead of Kenya's Sammy Maritim at 2:11:27. Maritim earned runner-up honors for the third straight year, outsprinting Gemechu Kebede of Ethiopia.

Nicole Carroll of Australia set a crazy pace for the first seven miles, given the relatively toasty conditions, and paid the price by dropping out at eight miles. '99 runner-up Zinaida Semenova of Russia took over the lead and held it until she was passed by a very patient Pozdnyakova at 23 miles. The Ukrainian, with the best career flat speed in the field, strided on to win at 2:32:24 and relegated Semenova to the second spot again.

Men's Winner: Chris Ciamarra 2:29:27 Women's Winner: Stacie Alboucrek 2:43:40

Prize money was not offered and there were no international elites in the field, but the men's race still had some intrigue with multiple lead changes and dropouts before Chris Ciamarra crossed the line for the win at 2:29:27, the slowest winning time since 1975. Ciamarra, a restaurant manager from Pennsylvania, drove to Houston the day before the race, and hurriedly finished his post-race press conference to make the 1,400-mile drive back home. Jerry Pullins was the leader through 17 miles and abruptly dropped out, leaving a small group to take turns before Sean Wade grabbed the lead at 21 miles. Ciamarra passed Wade at 22 miles and never looked back.

Just over nine months after giving birth to a son, Stacie Alboucrek endured a bit more pain to win the women's race with a personal best 2:43:40. The Florida mom went to the lead early and never relinquished it, topping runner-up Joy Smith by more than 12 minutes.

Men's Winner: Drew Prisner 2:28:43 Women's Winner: Becky Sondag 2:50:49

First-time marathoner Drew Prisner, a Compaq employee, kept the hardware in the company house, so to speak, winning his debut at 2:28:43 in a race sponsored by his employer. Daniel Shaw rolled out to a big early lead, stretching the margin to four minutes by 14 miles. Shaw started to tighten up four miles later, and by the 23-mile mark Prisner could see Shaw and made his move. Prisner ended up winning by more than a minute over Joshua Urban.

High school English teacher Becky Sondag ran with a couple half-marathon entrants for the first nine miles of her race before the two courses split apart and she was left on her own out front, never to see any challengers on the way to winning by more than five minutes at 2:50:49, the slowest winning mark since 1978.

January 19 • 4,713 finishers Men's Winner: Sean Wade (New Zealand) 2:24:43 Women's Winner: Albina Gallyamova (Russia)

2:42:37

In his fifth finish, Sean Wade finally won. The local teacher from New Zealand had finished second, third, fourth and fifth the four previous times he finished the race. Lambros Zaragas of Greece jetted to the lead and was on 2:12 pace through the early miles and 2:16 through the halfway point. Encouraged by a group of his P.E. students from the Shlenker School, Wade passed his own house at 21 miles still trailing but heard from spectators that Zaragas was slowing down. Paying the price for his early speed, Zaragas yielded the lead with just under a mile to go and Wade was finally able to claim the Houston title at 2:24:43.

Moving to the lead quickly in the women's race, Russia's Albina Gallyamova was on cruise control when she was surprised by Madeline Tormoen at nine miles. The unexpected challenge spurred the Russian to surge again and she held on to the lead the rest of the way to win at 2:42:37, almost three minutes ahead of Tormoen, who ran with an implanted defibrillator.

Men's Winner: Marek Jaroszewski (Poland) 2:18:51 Women's Winner: Margarita Tapia (Mexico)

2:28:36

Not since 1995 had a woman run under 2:30 at Houston. Margarita Tapia of Mexico did that and more en route to a majestic and dominant win at 2:28:36, winning by more than five minutes over Nicole Stevenson of Canada. Tapia's dominance was such that her competitors only saw her at the start and for a brief period after as she moved rapidly away from everyone. Her time qualified her for a spot in the Mexican Olympic team, and she finished 38th at Athens.

A six-man group led the men's race through 14 miles, including Poland's Marek Jaroszewski, defending champ Sean Wade of New Zealand and Australia's Kim Gillard. Jaroszewski and Gillard pulled away from Wade after 15 miles and traded the lead for the next six miles before Gillard tried to make a decisive move. Jaroszewski managed to hold on as Gillard slowed a little, and at 24 miles the Pole took the lead for good. He ended up winning by 39 seconds over Gillard, with Wade third at 2:22:26.

Women's Winner: Kelly Keane 2:32:27

Local favorite Kelly Keane of The Woodlands couldn't hold back a huge smile as she broke the tape at 2:32:27 to win the women's title, having enjoyed the support of a huge and raucous crowd all along the course. Keane and Poland's Wioletta Kryza ran with four other women through the early miles before breaking away after seven miles. The duo ran in tandem for most of the next 14 miles. Keane took off after the 21 mile mark and established a 100-yard lead, taking advantage of Kryza's tightening hamstrings to stretch that lead and race on to the win by almost three minutes.

Entering the race late, Kenya's David Cheruiyot puzzled many observers, who confused him with Daniel Cheruiyot, a seeded runner in the half marathon. Nonetheless, Cheruiyot sorted out any confusion by the finish as he picked up his first title at 2:14:50. Complaining later that the pace was too slow, Cheruiyot was stronger than Andrej Naumov of Ukraine and reigning champion Marek Jaroszewski of Poland, breaking away from the duo easily with sub-5:00 miles midway through the race. Naumov was second, 26 seconds behind Cheruiyot, while Jaroszewski improved his '04 time by three minutes to take third.

Men's Winner: David Cheruiyot (Kenya) 2:12:02 Women's Winner: Firiya Sultanova (Russia) 2:32:25

Chevron acquires title sponsorship rights to the Houston Marathon in an initial three year agreement. Responding to complaints of a slow pace the previous year, race organizers provided an experienced rabbit for reigning champion David Cheruiyot. New Zealander Sean Wade, the '03 winner and a veteran Houston runner, pulled the leaders through 11 miles before dropping out. Cheruiyot was surprised to have two fellow Kenyans still at his side in the persons of John Itati and Wesley Ngetich. Ngetich was the strongest of the challengers, taking the lead until the final 100 yards, where Cheruiyot sped past him to finish first with a PR 2:12:02, eight seconds up on Ngetich.

What looked like a runaway win for Russia's Firiya Sultanova turned into a painful trip to the finish line for the 44-year-old after she felt a twinge in her foot at the halfway point. Ignoring the excruciating pain, Sultanova kept pushing but at 25 miles she was forced to stop and walk five times and watch her four-minute lead crumble. She put in one final valiant effort in the final mile, though, and crossed the line at 2:32:25, 31 seconds ahead of Canada's Nicole Stevenson.

Men's Winner: Feyisa Tusse (Ethiopia) 2:11:39 Women's Winner: Dire Tune (Ethiopia) 2:26:52 (CR)

Breaking a course record that was set before she was born, Ethiopia's Dire Tune ran a marvelous race that made the 21-year-old the first woman ever under 2:27 at Houston. Starting the race in a small group with defending champion Firiya Sultanova of Russia and Claudia Camargo of Argentina, Tune ran easily. She and Camargo dropped Sultanova after three miles and by eight miles Tune was basically alone, stretching her lead and impressing the crowds with her rapid pace on the way to a win by more than three minutes over Hungary's Beata Rakonczai.

Another Ethiopian, Feyisa Tusse, won the men's race and shared something in common with Tune, the women's champion – they both slept on cots at DFW airport two nights previously after missing the last flight to Houston. Neither athlete appeared to suffer from the rigors of their lengthy journey from Addis Ababa, and Tusse's only complaint was the pacesetters were too slow. Running pretty much on his own most of the way, Tusse missed the course record with a 2:11:39 but won by more than two minutes.

January 13 • 5,519 finishers Men's Winner: David Cheruiyot (Kenya) 2:12:32 Women's Winner: Dire Tune (Ethiopia) 2:24:40 (CR)

One year after breaking a decades-old record, Ethiopia's Dire Tune lowered her own course best by more than two minutes to crush the field and win her second straight title at 2:24:40. Tune won by almost 11 minutes, one of the largest winning margins ever at Houston. She wasn't pleased with her time, though, hoping for a 2:21 clocking. Tune and fellow Ethiopian Worknesh Tola ran together in the lead at six miles, and Tune made a small break at the halfway point, putting herself 60 yards up on Tola. By the 19th mile there was no sight of anyone behind Tune, and she pushed through the final miles to take the win.

Winning his third title in four years, David Cheruiyot of Kenya was again unhappy with the pacemaking as he had hopes of breaking the course record and earning the $10,000 bonus that accompanied that feat. As it was, Cheruiyot had plenty to handle in the form of Ethiopia's Kasime Adilo. After showing his frustration with the pacers by waving his arms in a "let's go" motion midway through the race, Cheruiyot and Adilo slowed the pace dramatically and then sparked it back up again as they neared the last miles. Cheruiyot was too quick over the final stretch for Adilo, becoming only the second man to thrice win Houston, crossing the line at 2:12:32.

Men's Winner: Deriba Merga (Ethiopia) 2:07:52 (CR) Women's Winner: Teyba Erkesso (Ethiopia) 2:24:18 (CR)

The era of Ethiopian dominance arrived in full force in '09, heralded by a pair of wins with superb record-setting performances from Deriba Merga and Teyba Erkesso. Merga not only broke the 20-year-old men's record, he crushed it. But was he happy? No. Merga had aimed at a 2:05 and appeared to be on pace early in the race as he followed the rabbits, but when the last of the three pacemakers dropped out with more than nine miles left it was left to the diminutive Merga to try to maintain his speed in the teeth of a helty headwind that pushed back as he ran into downtown. He ended up winning by 3:41 at 2:07:52, the fastest time ever run in the state of Texas.

Erkesso was similarly dominant, winning by more than three minutes with her 2:24:18, but had the advantage of a male pacemaker who helped shield her from the persistent winds that bedeviled Merga. Early on Erkesso ran with countrywoman Amane Gobena and Romania's Nuta Olaru. The two Ethiopians started to pull away after 15 miles, and Erkesso pushed the pace to gap Gobena over the next couple miles. By 21 miles there were no challengers visible and Erkesso polished off her record run.

Men's Winner: Teshome Gelana (Ethiopia) 2:07:37 (CR) Women's Winner: Teyba Erkesso (Ethiopia) 2:23:53 (CR)

Two more Ethiopian champions and two more course records were the result of a late entrant and a confident returning winner. Teshome Gelana had not even entered the race by the deadline, but his agent persuaded race officials to let him in and he rewarded that decision with a brilliant late run to shave 15 seconds off the record set in 2009 and lead five other men under 2:10. It was a group affair for the majority of the race, with a lead pack of six or seven through 19 miles. Gelana stayed with that group until 22 miles, when he put the pedal down and burned a 4:40 mile to open up a gap that would never close. He slowed to 4:50s the rest of the way, but the damage was done and he won by 50 seconds at 2:07:37. Brett Gotcher ran the fastest time ever by an American at Houston to take seventh at 2:10:36.

Defending the title she won in '09, Teyba Erkesso was shadowed by Alemitu Abera for six miles but Erkesso kept the pressure on and extended her lead to almost a minute by the halfway point. Russia's Margarita Plaksina moved past Abera by 18 miles but couldn't make a dent in Erkesso's lead, which had stretched to three minutes. The final margin was almost five minutes as Erkesso cut 25 seconds off her existing record to clock 2:23:53, with Plaksina at a very respectable 2:28:44.

January 30 • 6,852 finishers

Men's Winner: Bekana Daba (Ethiopia) 2:07:04 (CR) Women's Winner: Mamitu Daska (Ethiopia) 2:26:33

A marathoning neophyte of sorts, Ethiopia's Bekana Daba set a men's course record in only his second race at the distance, even taking time near the finish for a bathroom break. The 22-year-old was safely ensconced in the lead pack for the first 14 miles, showing no signs of trouble despite the rapid mid-race pace. He and Wilfred Murgor of Kenya burst forward at 15 miles and opened up a huge lead. Murgor dropped back eventually and the only challenge left for Daba was whether or not to make a quick stop at the port-a-potty on the way in. He did, just as he entered downtown, but still managed to clock a blistering 2:07:04 and win by more than four minutes over surprising American Nick Arcianaga, who was second at 2:11:30 after originally running as a pacemaker for Brett Gotcher.

Tactics were much the same for Mamitu Daska of Ethiopia in the women's race. She and Ashu Kasim were together for 24 miles and then she unleashed a withering kick that took her through a 5:17 25th mile and helped her win by 1:14 at 2:26:33. Stephanie Rothstein had a great day, too, finishing third as the top U.S. runner at 2:29:35.

January 15 • 7,614 finishers Men's Winner: Tariku Jufar (Ethiopia) 2:06:51 (CR) Women's Winner: Alemitu Abera (Ethiopia) 2:23:14 (CR)

Much of the attention of marathon fans was on Saturday's U.S. Olympic Trials races, but a pair of Ethiopians quickly redirected that attention Sunday with course records going to Tariku Jufar and Alemitu Abera in the 40th anniversary race. Jufar was not the pre-race favorite, but with a PR of 2:08:10 coming in he was certainly a capable contender. Debebe Tolossa and Demssew Tsega, also of Ethiopia, had the pace set at sub-2:06 tempo and Jufar kept up with that duo as they passed the halfway point at 1:03:08. Tsega started sliding back at 20 miles, where Jufar made a big move. Tolossa tried to match Jufar's move but couldn't keep up that pace and it was all Jufar the rest of the way as he became the first man under 2:07 at Houston, beating Tolossa by 50 seconds at 2:06:51.

Nothing was close in the women's race, where Abera, the third-placer in 2010, took off at a high and determined pace and opened up a three minute lead by halfway. She was never even remotely challenged as she cropped 39 seconds off the record set by Teyba Erkesso two years previously. Australia's Benita Willis finished well to earn a respectable second at 2:28:24.

January 13 • 6,530 finishers Men's Winner: Bazu Worku (Ethiopia) 2:10:17 Women's Winner: Merima Mohammed (Ethiopia) 2:23:37

Ethiopia's 20-year-old Merima Mohammed overcame leg problems and cold, wet conditions to run the second-fastest ever women's race, while countryman Bazu Worku, 22, ran away with the men's title as youth was served. Mohammed ran the first half of the race with fellow Ethiopians Bizunesh Deba and Meskerem Assefa and that trio stayed together through 33km, when Mohammed made a strong move and broke away. She stretched her lead to 47 seconds over Deba by the 40km mark and crossed the line in 2:23:37, missing the course record by 23 seconds.

Deba, the runner-up of the 2011 New York Marathon, finished second in 2:24:26, which was the fifth-fastest time in race history. Showing great range for an athlete who boasts PRs of 2:02.12 and 4:02.12 for 800m and 1500m, Assefa finished third on her marathon debut in 2:25:17.

Worku, who had been running in a pack of nine early in the race, came through the halfway mark in 65:25 with five others. But by 25km, he had opened up a 50-second lead over countryman Solomon Molla. Worku continued to stretch that lead with every mile and finished in 2:10:17, winning by more than two-anda-half minutes. Teferi Balcha claimed runner-up honors in 2:12:50, while Molla held on for third in 2:14:37.

January 19 • 6,945 finishers Men's Winner: Bazu Worku (Ethiopia) 2:07:32 Women's Winner: Abebech Bekele (Ethiopia) 2:25:52

It took Bazu Worku almost 26 miles to shake fellow Ethiopian Getachew Terfa, but over the final half-mile the defending champion pulled away to win in 2:07:32, the third-fastest time in race history. Terfa crossed the line 22 seconds later at 2:07:54, and unheralded Mexican Jose Antonio Uribe shattered his personal best with a 2:08:54 to place third.

With the pacemakers doing their jobs to near perfection, the lead pack of 10 came through the half marathon at 63:15, and through the next 5K there were still 10 men within three seconds of each other. Going by the 30K mark at 1:30:04, Worku and Terfa had only Solomon Deksisa for company, and the next 5K segment was crucial as the lead pair surged and put almost a minute between them and Uribe, who had moved ahead of Deksisa. Heading into the heart of the city on the way to the finish, Worku and Terfa fought back and forth for the lead. By the time Worku made the final turn towards home in front of the GRB he had broken Terfa and sealed the victory and a $40,000 payday.

Sarah Kiptoo of Kenya made the early pace for the women, taking a group of seven through 10K in 33:56. She faded over the next 5K, leaving six women in contention and Meskerem Assefa and Gelete Burka with a slight edge. Five runners went past the half marathon mark in 1:12:13 and Abebech Bekele and Biruktait Degefa looked poised to make a break. No one could make a significant dent, though, and Bekele and Degefa held only a one second margin at 35K.

Bekele eased ahead over the next 5K and had a 10-second gap over Assefa and Burka with two miles to go, and she held off a furious late challenge by Assefa to win her first marathon in 2:25:52. That was the eighth-fastest performance in race history and Assefa climbed to No. 9 with her 2:25:59. Former world indoor 1500 champion Burka couldn't summon enough speed at the end but still claimed the No. 10 all-time list spot at 2:26:03.

January 18 • 7,004 finishers Men's Winner: Birhanu Gedefa (Ethiopia) 2:08:03 Women's Winner: Yebrgual Arage (Ethiopia) 2:23:23

Near-perfect conditions yielded speedy performances as Yebrgual Arage ran the second fastest time ever by a woman at Houston and Birhanu Gedefa outkicked Gebo Burka to take the men's race. It was the seventh straight sweep of the titles by Ethiopia.

Arage made a late race surge and passed early leader Biruktait Degefa before fighting off the challenge of Guteni Imana on the way to a 2:23:23 that was a personal best by almost three minutes. Imana finished at 2:23:32, the third-fastest time ever at Houston and a seven minute improvement on her previous best, and Degefa also dipped under 2:24 with a 2:23:51 that moved her to fifth on the all-time race performance list.

Kellyn Taylor had an impressive debut to place sixth at 2:28:40 as the top American, three minutes ahead of 2014 half marathon champion Serena Burla, who crossed the line at 2:31:46 in seventh.

Gedefa was content to run with the pack for the early part of the race, cruising through the halfway point at 1:03:20. He stayed with the leaders through 30K at 1:31:06 and was six seconds behind Debebe Tolossa with just over four miles to go. Burka made a strong push and pulled away from the pack, opening up a 14-second lead by 40K, but Gedefa fought back and passed Burka in the final 400 meters to win at 2:08:03, a lifetime best and the eighth-fastest time ever at Houston.

Burka's 2:08:12 made him the ninth-fastest in race history, while Tolossa was third at 2:09:07. Kenya's Dominic Ondoro was also under 2:10, taking fourth at 2:09:40. 2014 half marathon runner-up, Aaron Braun, moved up in distance to great effect, finishing as the top American at 2:12:54 in seventh.

Men's Winner: Birhanu Gedefa (Ethiopia) 2:11:53 Women's Winner: Bruktayit Degefa (Ethiopia)

2:26:07

What started off as runaways by Poland's Artur Kozlowski and Australia's Lisa Weightman, turned into a pair of Ethiopian victories.

2015 men's runner-up Gebo Burka passed Kozlowski after the 35K mark, making up a 1:01 deficit from 30K as he ran stride for stride with countryman Girmay Gebru. The duo passed 40K together, and with less than a half-mile to go Burka pulled ahead and went on to win at 2:10:54. It was the eighth straight Houston win for Ethiopia.

Defending champion Birhanu Gedefa was third at 2:11:53, and Kozlowski ended up fifth at 2:14:11. Two-time winner Bazu Worku was sixth.

Kozlowski had a 20-second lead by 10K and added 19 seconds to that over the next 5K. He passed the half at 1:04:58, more than 50 seconds ahead of the chase pack that included Daniel Vargas of Mexico along with Gebru and Worku.

Gedefa was second at 25K, 58 seconds behind the leader, and by 30K he was 1:02 back, just behind Burka, Gebru and Yitayal Atanfu. Over the next 5K that group cut Kozlowski's margin to 19 seconds, passing him for good just after that.

The International Association of Athletics Federations (IAAF) and the U.S. Anti-Doping Agency (USADA) subsequently notified the Houston Marathon Committee that Burka and Gebru were sanctioned for anti-doping rule violations. Both runners from Ethiopia were removed from the results and the 2016 final standings updated. Gedefa, the 2015 Houston Marathon winner, was awarded the 2016 title and prize money was reallocated in accordance with the new results.

Weightman ran alone at the front of the women's race until just before the 30K point, where Bruktayit Degefa pushed past her and pulled away to win at 2:26:07. Degefa was third in 2015 after a fourth-place finish in 2014, and she ran the second half of her race in 1:12:20, 1:27 faster than the first 13.1 miles. Her win was the 10th in a row for Ethiopia.

Degefa was a minute back at the half, running with three other women, but the quartet made up 15 seconds over the next 5K.

After losing her lead, Weightman dropped back by 27 seconds over the next 5K and fell even farther behind by 40K. She held on to take second at 2:27:35 and 2015 fourth-placer Sechale Dalasa moved up one rung to place third at 2:28:43.

Men's Winner: Dominic Ondoro (Kenya) 2:12:05 Women's Winner: Meskerem Assefa (Ethiopia)

2:30:18

Late-race breakaways led to first-time wins in the Chevron Houston Marathon.

After a runner-up finish in 2014 and a third-place effort in 2013, Meskerem Assefa of Ethiopia extended her nation's dominance in the women's marathon with a 2:30:18 to notch her first win and extend to 11 the streak of Ethiopian victories. Assefa and defending champion Bruktayit Degefa ran together until the 25-kilometer mark, where Assefa made a subtle move to put six seconds on Degefa over the next 5K. Steadily moving away from Degefa, Assefa hit 35K in 2:03:44, 26 seconds in front, and her lead increased to 40 seconds by 40K. Fighting cramps, Assefa held on over the final two kilometers to win by 26 seconds as Degefa crossed the line at 2:30:44.

Local favorite Becky Wade, a former Rice all-American in track and field, was the top U.S. finisher, taking third in 2:35:57.

Kenya's Dominic Ondoro snapped an eight-race winning streak by Ethiopian men with his strong finish over the final four kilometers, clocking 2:12:05. Ondoro was part of a large pack early in the race, which was whittled down to five at the 25K mark. The group became four over the next 5K, with last year's runner-up, Yitayal Atnafu of Ethiopia hanging on Ondoro's shoulder. Also in the group were Atnafu's countrymen Abayneh Ayele, a 2:06 man, and Andualem Shiferaw. Between 35K and 40K, Ondoro and Atnafu pulled away, with Ondoro breaking Atnafu and taking a 10-second lead by 40K. Atnafu had no answer for Ondoro's strength in the final two kilometers and ended up second in 2:12:33. Assefa and Ondoro each earned $45,000 for their respective wins in the Chevron Houston Marathon.

Elkanah Kibet took honors as the top American man, placing sixth in 2:17:25.

Men's Winner: Bazu Worku (Ethiopia) 2:08:30 Women's Winner: Bruktayit Degafa (Ethiopia) 2:24:51

In the 46th year of the Houston Marathon, Bazu Worku, 27, of Ethiopia came back from a 23-second deficit at 40K to win here for the third time, breaking the tape in 2:08:30. Finishing second for the third consecutive year was Yitayal Atnafu of Ethiopia, in 2:09:07.

Atnafu, 24, ran the 18th mile in 4:30, the fastest of the day, to pull away from the field, and appeared to have the race in hand before fading in the final kilometers and being caught by his training partner. Worku also won here in 2013 and 2014.

"I was having a plan," said Worku through a translator. "At 25K I was doing my pace, and at 35K." After catching up with Atnafu just past 40K, he said, "I knew that I was winning."

Finishing in sixth at 2:15:52 as top American was Wilkerson Given, a local favorite, coached by Danny Green, the winner of the first-ever Houston Marathon in 1972. Given was among three men running times that qualified them to compete in the 2020 U.S. Olympic Team Trials – Marathon.

For the women, Bruktayit Degefa, 27, of Ethiopia won in 2:24:51 after a spirited battle with countrywoman Belaynesh Oljira, runner-up in 2:24:57.

It was Degefa's fifth-consecutive appearance here at the Chevron Houston Marathon, a streak that included a win in 2016 and a second-place finish last year.

"When I come to Houston, I feel it is special joy, because I consider Houston as my hometown," she said through a translator. "As if I'm coming to a family. I came here very prepared, and I knew that I would be winning today." Both male and female marathon winners each earned a first-place prize of $45,000, plus time bonuses.

Sarah Crouch was the top American, seventh in 2:35:22, while Hiruni Wijayaratne, eighth in 2:36:35, set a women's national record for Sri Lanka. Including Crouch, seven American women qualified to run in the 2020 U.S. Olympic Team Trials – Marathon.

Men's Winner: Albert Korir (Kenya) 2:10:02 Women's Winner: Bruktayit Degefa (Ethiopia)

2:23:28

Winning the Chevron Houston Marathon were newcomer Albert Korir, racing in America for the first time, and Bruktayit Degefa, who became the third woman in Houston history to win the marathon three times.

In a resounding three-minute victory, Degefa set a personal best of 2:23:28, the third-fastest winning time in race history, only 14 seconds shy of Alemitu Abera's 2012 record of 2:23:14.

"When I prepare to come here to Houston, I really get excited," said Degefa, who lives in Albuquerque, N.M. but trained for this race in Ethiopia. "I come to win."

It was her sixth-consecutive appearance here, and she became only the third woman to win three times.

Degefa was challenged through 30K by Meseret Belete, the 19-year-old world junior record-holder in the half marathon who was making her debut at the distance. But Belete couldn't respond when Degefa picked up the pace just after 30K, and would be passed near the finish by Belaynesh Fikadu, who finished as runner-up in 2:26:41. Belete was third in 2:26:51, for an Ethiopian sweep of the podium.

Korir, meanwhile, had never been to this country before and had to battle until the final kilometer, when he slowly pulled ahead of Ethiopia's Yitayal Atnafu to win in 2:10:02, six seconds ahead of the man who would become runner-up here for an astonishing fourth year in a row – on his 26th birthday, no less. Finishing third was Justus Kimutai of Kenya in 2:10:25.

Korir, a 24-year-old Kenyan who worked cutting down trees early in his career to supplement his meager race earnings, said: "I am grateful to win this race for the first time in America."

The victors each took home $45,000 for the win, with Degefa earning an extra $10,000 in time bonuses for running sub-2:24.

Leading the Americans in the marathon were Tyler Jermann of St. Paul, Minnesota, ninth in 2:13:29, and Kelsey Bruce of Dallas, sixth in 2:31:53.

January 19 • 6,923 finishers

Men's Winner: Kelkile Gezahegn (Ethiopia) 2:08:36 Women's Winner: Askale Merachi (Ethiopia) 2:22:29

The Chevron Houston Marathon welcomed defending champion Bruktayit Degefa (ETH) back to the start to vie for her fourth victory (a historic feat in Houston's race history), but it was clear from the start that compatriot Askale Merachi (ETH) had other ideas. Merachi separated from the lead pack before 10K, and she maintained course record pace until the later stages of the race. In spite of running unchallenged to the finish line, she held on to crush her personal best and run the fourth fastest time in Chevron Houston Marathon history, 2:23:29. History eluded Degefa as she finished second in 2:24:57, and Canadian Malindi Elmore, who recently came out of retirement from professional running, finished third in a Canadian national record, 2:24:50.

The men's race started on pace to break the course record, but slowed over the final four miles. By mile 15, the pack shrank to just five runners, and by mile 17, it turned into a duel between Kelkile Gezahegn (ETH) and Bonsa Dida (ETH). Kelkile and Bonsa slowed dramatically between miles 22 and 24, and then Kelkile hit the gas pedal, leaving Bonsa behind, racing to the finish to win in 2:08:36. Bonsa finished second in 2:10:37, and Amanuel Mesel (ERI) finished third in 2:11:04.

One of the most exciting finishes of the day belonged to Michael Roeger (AUS). Roeger, a T46 Paralympian, obliterated his own world record (2:22:51) to, as he said in the pre-race press conference, "put his competitors on notice" heading into the 2020 Tokyo Paralympics. Roeger finished 26th overall in 2:19:33.

Americans Adriana Nelson and Craig Hunt led a deep field of U.S. athletes as they both collected eighth place finishes. Nelson clocked 2:33:18, and Hunt ran 2:17:18. Twelve American men and 18 American women met the qualifying standard to compete in the U.S. Olympic Marathon Trials in Atlanta in February 2020.

Steve Schmidt (USA) and Antonio Arreola (USA) joined an exclusive club to become the first two runners to run a sub-three hour marathon for the sixth decade. Schmidt finished in 2:58:07 and Arreola finished a few strides behind in 2:58:18. Schmidt ran his first sub-three hour marathon in 1979, and Arreola ran his first in 1976. Arreola holds the record for the longest time span between his first sub-three hour marathon and his last.

2021

January 8-17 • Finishers: 1,665

The Houston Marathon Committee and the City of Houston announced the difficult decision to transition the traditional in-person Chevron Houston Marathon to a virtual running event in 2021 in light of the COVID-19 pandemic. Nearly 10,000 runners registered to run #togetherfromanywhere to complete their virtual distance over the course a 10-day period.

2022

January 16 • Finishers: 6,277

Women's Winner: Keira D'Amato (2:19:12) Men's Winner: Joseph Ngandu (2:11:03)

Returning to an in-person event after a virtual race in 2021, the 50th Anniversary of the Chevron Houston Marathon was one for the record books. Keira D'Amato became the first American woman to win the race since 2005. Her time of 2:19:12 broke the 16-year-old American record by 24 seconds and the course record by more than four minutes.

In the early miles of the race, D'Amato ran side-byside with Bruktayit Degefa of Ethiopia. But, from the halfway point on, the real estate agent from Virginia was all alone. She went through the half marathon in 1:09:40, and ran a negative split for the second half of the race. Her margin of victory was more than nine minutes.

"I just can't believe this," said D'Amato, after being greeted at the finish line by her son Tommy, 7, and daughter Quinn, 5. "I'm really tired, but I'm really, really happy. Dreams come true, you know?" D'Amato's record has since been broken by Emily Sisson who ran 2:18:29 at the Bank of America Chicago Marathon in October of 2022.

The race for second was a thrilling battle between Alice Wright of Great Britain and Maggie Montoya of the United States. Both were making their marathon debut and were side by side entering the final 100 meters. Wright and Montoya were given the identical finishing time of 2:29:08 with Wright taking second and Montoya third.

The men's race was a much closer finish with only 13 seconds separating the top three finishers. In his marathon debut, James Ngandu took the lead in the final miles of the race and outsprinted Abdi Abdo of Bahrain to win in 2:11:03. Abdo took second in 2:11:11 and Elisha Barno of Kenya finished third in 2:11:16

The top American was Houston native Frank Lara. Lara, also making his marathon debut, finishing fourth in 2:11:32.

2023

January 15 • 6,739 finishers Men's Winner: Dominic Ondoro (Kenya) 2:10:36 Women's Winner: Hitomi Niiya (Japan) 2:19:24

With the Japanese national record of 2:19:12, also the Chevron Marathon Course Record, in her sights, Hitomi Niiya waited patiently as Ethiopia's Muliye Dekebo set a blistering early pace on an unseasonably humid day in Houston. Niiya caught Dekebo just after the halfway point and the pair battled it out for the next five miles until Dekebo's ambitious start caught up to her. From there, it was all Niiya and her pacer inching dangerously close to the record. After the pacer stepped off the course, Niiya struggled to hold on and crossed the line in 2:19:24. Despite missing the Japanese record by 12 seconds, it was still a nearly two-minute personal best and the second fastest time in race history.

The men's marathon could not have played out more differently. Despite recruiting a pacer to run 2:07, a pack of seven men ran stride for stride through 30K at 2:10 pace. By 35K, it was down to five and just after 40K, it was a two-man race between Dominic Ondoro of Kenya and Tsedat Ayana of Ethiopia. Ayana looked to have the advantage as the marathon turned into a sprint with 400 meters to go. But Ondoro had one last surge, passing a flailing and clearly tired Ayana in the final seconds of the race. The winning time of 2:10:36 was just one second faster than second place and the closest finish since 1996.

HALF MARATHON HISTORY

Men's Winner: Justin Chaston (England) 1:08:42 Women's Winner: Christy Nielsen-Crotta 1:21:37

Finishers: 2,675

After 30 years of marathon-only competition, Houston added the half marathon in 2002, with El Paso Energy as the sponsor. The 13.1-mile race was immediately popular, with more than 2,500 finishers, but the first race didn't present a dramatic finish.

Justin Chaston, a Houston resident and already a two-time British Olympian in the steeplechase, trailed eventual runner-up Gannon White through five miles and edged ahead before being overtaken again by White. Chaston, who would go on to represent Britain for a third time in the steeplechase in the '04 Olympics, moved back ahead for good at 10 miles and put almost two minutes on White in the closing stages.

In the women's race, Fort Worth's Christy Nielsen-Crotta was never really challenged on the way to victory over University of Houston distance runner Karina Quesada, crossing the line in 1:21:37. The native of Iowa, who qualified for the 2000 U.S. Olympic Trials marathon, beat Quesada by almost two minutes.

Men's Winner: Scott Strand 1:05:13 Women's Winner: Beth Old 1:17:03

Finishers: 3,990

Originally conceived as a way to increase participation in the marathon, the '03 half proved even more successful than the debut in '02 as more than 4,500 runners signed up.

Another successful steeplechaser was a runaway winner of the second edition, as former Auburn star Scott Strand knocked more than three minutes off the event record with his 1:05:13. Strand, who qualified for the 1996 and 2000 U.S. Olympic Trials in the 3000 SC, ran with Kenya's Sammy Nyamongo through 5K and then pulled ahead with each additional kilometer, putting a 12-second gap on Nyamongo by the 10K point. By the time he crossed the line, Strand had completed the perfect warm-up for the '04 Trials marathon, winning by almost three minutes.

Women's winner Beth Old, who would go on to place 15th in the 2004 Olympic Trials marathon, went wire to wire at the front of the pack to beat runner-up Jackie Rzepecki by 1:46 in 1:17:03, slicing more than four minutes off the inaugural event record. Old, who ran at Georgia Tech as Beth Mallory and would be inducted into the school's Sports Hall of Fame in 2010, was an NCAA cross country national qualifier for the Rambling Wreck in 1994.

Men's Winner: Gilbert Koech (Kenya) 1:03:08 Women's Winner: Colleen DeReuck 1:10:55

Finishers: 5,207

A fast pace pulled five men under 1:04 at the '04 half, sponsored by HP. Kenya's Gilbert Koech had a PR of 1:02:05 coming into the race and needed every bit of that speed to outlean Dan Browne with the help of a cone near the finish line, earning victory in 1:03:08 to take more than two minutes off the event record.

Browne told the Houston Chronicle, "There was a cone out there, and there was a direction - half marathoners stay on this side and marathoners on the other side. I took it literally, because in my heart, that's what we're supposed to do." Koech slipped by the other side of the cone and edged Browne by one second.

Former South African Colleen De Reuck, a four-time Olympian in the 10,000 and marathon, won by 36 seconds over Sylvia Mosqueda, smashing the event record with her 1:10:55. Seven women finished faster than the existing record of 1:17:03, and '03 champion Beth Old was sixth in 1:14:54. The 39-year-old De Reuck placed 36th in the 2004 Olympic Games marathon for Team USA.

Men's Winner: Julius Kibet (Kenya) 1:03:17 Women's Winner: Olga Romanova (Russia) 1:12:36

Finishers: 6,732

Aramco became a sponsor as Houston hosted its first of seven consecutive USA Half Marathon Championships in '05, with '04 overall runner-up Dan Browne holding off seven other men under 1:05 to take the U.S. title in 1:03:56. Browne went out with the aim of capturing the overall title, but when he realized that Kenya's Julius Kibet was not to be caught, he set his aim on a national championship.

Kibet made a decisive move just after 10K, and went through the line at 1:03:17 to give Kenya a second-straight win. Aramco sponsored the race for the first time, starting a long-term relationship with the event.

Russians dominated the women's contest, led by 24-year-old Olga Romanova, who took top honors in 1:12:36. Romanova, twice a top-15 finisher in the short course event at the IAAF World Cross Country Championships, was 19 seconds ahead of countrywoman Lioudmila Kortchaguina, with '04 winner Colleen De Reuck fifth in 1:14:05.

HALF MARATHON HISTORY

2006

Men's Winner: Nicodemus Malakwen (Kenya)

1:02:07

Women's Winner: Asmae Leghzaoui (Morocco)

1:11:56

Finishers: 7,351

A pair of big personal bests gave Kenya's Nicodemus Malakwen and American Brian Sell the overall and U.S. titles in 2006, with both men chopping a chunk off the previous event record. Malakwen clocked 1:02:07 to trim 1:01 off Gilbert Koech's '04 mark, while Sell sped home in 1:02:39. The second American, Jason Hartmann, also beat Koech's standard with a 1:03:07 in third, and five U.S. men bettered 1:04.

Malakwen started showing his dominance at 5K and had a full minute lead late in the race before easing in ahead of Sell by 32 seconds.

Morocco's Asmae Leghzaoui, a seventh-place finisher in the 10,000 at the 2001 IAAF World Championships and the 10h-placer at the '02 World Half Marathon, ran with the leaders in the women's race through eight miles and then moved ahead on her way to a 1:11:56 that would put her 12 seconds ahead of runner-up Dorota Gruca of Poland. Jen Rhines was the top American in fifth at 1:13:29.

2007

Men's Winner: Ryan Hall 59:43 Women's Winner: Elva Dryer 1:11:42

Finishers: 6,857

Barrier-breaking Ryan Hall sent shockwaves through the running community with his masterful 59:43 to become the first U.S. man under 60 minutes, setting an American and North American record and demolishing the old national mark of 1:00:55 set in 1985 by Mark Curp. Hall crushed the Houston event record and seized the USA Championship trophy and $21,00 in prize money.

Hall broke away from the field at two miles and went past 5K at 14:05. His lead kept getting bigger and bigger, and as he headed into the finish stretch there was no one else in sight. Fasil Bizuneh and Meb Keflezighi gamely battled for runner-up honors, with Bizuneh getting the nod by two seconds in 1:02:20. Five men dropped below the 1:03 mark and the top 10 finished faster than 1:04, with '05 U.S. champ Dan Browne eighth in 1:03:55.

Houston also hosted the women's national championship race for the first time, and two-time Olympian Elva Dryer came away with the win in 1:11:42, just five seconds up on Kate O'Neill, her roommate at the Athens Olympic Games in '04.

Dryer and O'Neill exchanged the lead for much of the race before Dryer opened up a small margin in the last mile. "I had to maintain a good steady pace," said Dryer. "A couple of us were together at the beginning. I knew O'Neill wasn't far behind the whole time." 2008

Men's Winner: James Carney 1:02:21 Women's Winner: Kate O'Neill 1:11:57

Finishers: 8,226

When a man is determined to win and he has the talent, it's hard to stop him. At least that was the case with James Carney, who overcame the disappointment of a 14th-place finish at the Olympic Trials marathon in New York the previous November to run away with the U.S. half title in 1:02:21. Running aggressively from the start, Carney was never passed as he beat second-placer Jason Lemkuhle by 11 seconds.

Before the race even started, Carney had other obstacles to overcome, since an airline lost his luggage and it didn't arrive until late the night before. "The lost luggage wasn't going to stop me," he told the Houston Chronicle. "I was focused. I would have run in dress shoes if I had to."

Moving up one spot from 2007, Kate O'Neill was 10 seconds slower but a great deal happier to win in 1:11:57, with Desiree Davila second in 1:12:10. Battling pesky winds, O'Neill ran at the front all the way and was aided by the withdrawal of defending champ Elva Dryer, who stopped at nine miles due to injury.

Men's Winner: Meb Keflezighi 1:01:25 Women's Winner: Magdalena Boulet 1:11:47

Finishers: 8,334

Two years after watching Ryan Hall shatter the American record ahead of him, Meb Keflezighi improved on his third-place effort and made a bold statement with his 1:01:25 win and U.S. title. With uber-talented Dathan Ritzenhein on his heels, Keflezighi pushed hard between the second and third miles and managed to stake himself a solid lead, increasing it to almost 100 meters at times during the middle stages. Ritzenhein made up ground heading to the finish and crossed the line at 1:01:35.

Keflezighi, the 2004 Olympic marathon silver medalist, said this win was one of the most special to him, given his injuries in 2008 that hobbled him for much of the year. His time was a personal best.

Magdalena Boulet also set a lifetime best to win the women's U.S. crown in 1:11:47, 19 seconds in front of Kelly Jaske. Looking for redemption after not finishing the marathon at the '08 Olympics in Beijing, Boulet noted the loud crowds in Houston as a key to her performance. Reigning champ Kate O'Neill had a lead over Boulet early in the race but couldn't hold on as she slid back to 11th, while ageless Colleen De Reuck (44) was third behind Jaske in 1:12:16.

Men's Winner: Antonio Vega 1:01:54 Women's Winner: Shalane Flanagan 1:09:41

Finishers: 9,918

Two years after claiming Olympic bronze in the 10,000 on the track at Beijing, Shalane Flanagan tested herself at a longer distance in Houston and came away as a very impressive winner with an event-record 1:09:41, chopping more than a minute off Colleen De Reuck's '04 standard. Flanagan's efforts helped drag Serena Burla to a 1:10:08 in second place, also under the previous record, and '09 winner Magdalena Boulet was fifth.

Kelly Jaske, the previous year's second-placer, went out hard to take some of the pacesetting pressure off Flanagan, who became the No. 5 American ever at the distance, with the 10th-fastest U.S. time ever. Flanagan told Track & Field News, "The primary goal was to win the race. Everything else was a bonus. I feel like I gave a really good effort, but I actually feel like I have more running in my legs. That's a good sign to me."

In what was certainly the top performance of his career, former Minnesota Gopher Antonio Vega moved up from seventh in '09 to the top of the podium with a lifetime-best 1:01:54. Calling it his breakout race, Vega was seven seconds better than Patrick Smyth, who clocked 1:02:01 to lead four other men under 1:03. Vega told the Houston Chronicle, "I was going to make my big move at the turnaround point, so I increased the pace and that separated me from the pack. ... But I almost got a stiff neck coming into downtown, looking around for people to come up from behind."

Men's Winner: Jeffrey Eggleston 1:08:26 Women's Winner: Colleen De Reuck 1:16:19 Finishers: 9,313

With the U.S. Championships being held separately on Saturday, Sunday's half marathon fields were diminished, giving 46-year-old Colleen De Reuck a chance to win her second Houston title. De Reuck did just that, taking an easy victory in 1:16:19, almost three minutes in front of Leah Thorvilson. She won her first Houston half in '04, setting an event record that was not broken until 2010.

The men's competition gave Jeffrey Eggleston a second chance at gold, since he dropped out of the U.S. race on Saturday after the eight-mile mark. Eggleston decided to give it another try Sunday, a decision that led to a 3:30 margin of victory in 1:08:26.

"I just hit a really rough patch and made the poor decision of dropping out," Eggleston told the Houston Chronicle in reference to Saturday's effort. "I was here for another day, and Houston is such a great venue that I wanted to come back and get out there and enjoy the course and have a more positive experience."

U.S. Championships

Men's Winner: Mo Trafeh 1:02:17 Women's Winner: Jen Rhines 1:11:14

Held on the Saturday before the marathon, the U.S. Championship race in 2011 saw American Record holder Ryan Hall return to the site of his stunning 59:43 in 2007. Hall didn't win in his return, but finishing only three seconds behind Mo Trafeh's 1:02:17 was a welcome result for Hall after he suffered through fatigue issues during the final months of the previous year.

Trafeh, with a nagging foot injury, went past early leader Patrick Smyth and later outkicked Hall to pick up his first national title.

Women's champion Jen Rhines stayed behind Nan Dennard and Serena Burla throughout the first half of the race before making a move with two miles to go that put her in the lead for good as she raced to a 1:1:14 to beat Burla by 24 seconds.

For Burla, it was an emotional return to Houston. At the 2010 race in which she finished second, Burla had inexplicable hamstring pain that almost forced her to abandon the race. She later found out it was a malignant tumor, and it was removed the following month.

"It's a mystery to me how I can still run," Burla told the Houston Chronicle. "Sometimes things can't be explained. It's been a pretty moving year. Please write how grateful I am to everybody in the running community for their support. The unknown can be pretty scary. But so many people were helping me, telling me to be fearless. ... To everyone who had a positive thought or said a prayer for me, thank you."

Men's Winner: Feyisa Lilesa (Ethiopia) 59:22 Women's Winner: Belaynesh Olijara (Ethiopia) 1:08:26

Finishers: 9,374

In a year that saw Houston host the Olympic Trials marathon and gain worldwide attention, a pair of Ethiopian youngsters rampaged through the half marathon record books.

Feyisa Lelisa and Belaynesh Oljira broke course records held by a couple of familiar names: Lelisa's 59:22 edged the mark set by American Ryan Hall (59:43) in 2007, while Oljira's winning time of 1:08:26 shattered the mark set by American Shalane Flanagan (1:09:41).

Lelisa, a 21-year-old who won the marathon bronze medal at the 2011 IAAF World Championships, was a late entrant, but had little trouble handling the field. Ethiopian Tilahun Regassa was runner-up, in 1:01:28, with American Scott Bauhs on his heels in a personal best 1:01:30. In fourth was Luke Puskedra in 1:01:36, a senior at the University of Oregon who was making his half marathon debut.

HALF MARATHON HISTORY

The women's race was another matter. Oljira and Kenya's Caroline Kilel, winner of the 2011 Boston Marathon, ran shoulder-to-shoulder right to the end, with the 21-year-old Oljira, running her first race in the United States, using her 10,000-meter speed to win in a sprint.

"Right from the beginning I was following her and I knew, and I prepared in my mind, that I have to sprint very fast at the last 100 meters or so," Oljira said.

Joan Samuelson, 1984 Olympic gold medalist in the marathon, finished in 1:38:03.

Men's Winner: Feyisa Lilesa (Ethiopia) 1:01:54 Women's Winner: Mamitu Daska (Ethiopia) 1:09:53 Finishers: 10,065

Running in wet and cold conditions, course recordholder Feyisa Lilesa of Ethiopia defended his title in the men's race and countrywoman Mamitu Daska, the 2011 marathon champion, won the women's crown. Daska became the first-ever woman to win the marathon and the half marathon at Houston.

Lilesa ran side-by-side with Deriba Merga until the pair entered the home stretch, where Lilesa used his superior speed to win in 1:01:54. Merga was second at 1:02:00 and Kenya's Wilson Erupe made a late surge to take third in 1:02:12.

Daska took command early in the race, leading through 5km in 16:18, and then doubled her margin by the 10km mark, clocking 32:42. At 15km, she had a 1:27 lead over Caroline Kilel of Kenya and her margin of victory was 2:05 when she crossed the line at 1:09:54, the fifth-fastest time in race history. Kilel finished as the runner-up for the second year in a row, finishing in 1:11:58 and Hellen Jemutai, also of Kenya, was third in 1:12:34.

The top Americans were newly-minted U.S. citizen Shadrack Biwott, who finished fourth in 1:02:23, and Lisa Uhl, who took sixth in 1:13:38. Despite rainy conditions, the finisher total exceeded 10,000 for the first time in the history of the Houston Half Marathon.

Men's Winner: Meb Keflezighi 1:01:23 Women's Winner: Serena Burla 1:10:48

Finishers: 10,500

Houston once again hosted the USA Half Marathon Championships, this time on a new course with superb weather, and Meb Keflezighi broke away from the field after the eight-mile mark to win in 1:01:23, his second U.S. title and the second-fastest time in race history by an American. It was Keflezighi's 22nd U.S. title at all distances.

Keflezighi ran with a large pack for the first half of the race, trading the lead with the previous year's top American finisher, Shadrack Biwott, and Tyler Pennel. Aaron Braun and Tim Ritchie pulled the field through 5K in 14:38, and a group of seven men led by Pennel passed 10K in 29:10.By 15K Keflezighi gapped the pack by three seconds at 43:34, and he added nine seconds to that margin over the next 5K to clock 58:12.

Braun and Josphat Boit edged past Pennel over the final kilometer to finish second and third in 1:01:38 and 1:01:41.

Serena Burla mounted the podium for the first time, winning the women's title in 1:10:48 as she ran almost unchallenged for the majority of the race.

A pack of eight cruised through 5K under 17:03 with Burla at the front. Burla made a strong push in the next 5K to take a 15-second lead over Lauren Kleppin at 10K, and by 15K that lead had stretched to 40 seconds at 50:07. She went through 20K at 67:08 and had a 1:18 margin, which increased to 1:24 at the finish, with Kleppin second and Caitlin Comfort third at 1:12:16.

2015

Men's Winner: Diego Estrada 1:00:51 Women's Winner: Kim Conley 1:09:44

Finishers: 11,664

Two very different races produced two superb results in races that served as the U.S. championship race for the ninth time for men and seventh time for women.

Diego Estrada shot to the lead after running with the pack for the first 5K at 14:41, opening a 20-second gap by 10K (28:51) and stretching that margin to 45 seconds over Jared Ward at the 15K mark (43:14). He tacked on five more seconds to his cushion by 20K (57:45) and eased to the finish at 1:00:51, the third-fastest time ever by an American and also the third-fastest ever at Houston.

Ward finished well to clock 1:01:42 in his debut at the distance to move to ninth on the all-time Houston list, and Girma Mecheso was third at 1:02:16. Three-time champion Meb Keflezighi was fighting a cold and a sore back as he pursued his fourth U.S. title and third straight, but battled through to take fourth at 1:02:18.

Kim Conley, a gold medalist in the 10,000 at the 2014 USATF Outdoor Championships, bided her time through 10 miles at a fast pace, running with the leaders through 5K at 16:45 and 10K at 33:27. She shared the lead with 2006 U.S. champ Annie Bersagel at 15K (50:08) and then pulled away over the next 5K, running 16:12 for that portion of the race to pass 20K at 1:06:20 and take a 22-second lead.

Conley was powerful through the finish, crossing the line at 1:09:44 for the fifth-fastest time ever at Houston and the second-fastest by an American woman in the race.

HALF MARATHON HISTORY

2016

Men's Winner: Lelisa Desisa (Ethiopia) 1:00:37 Women's Winner: Mary Wacera (Kenya) 1:06:29

(course record) Finishers: 11,079

Kenya's Mary Wacera ran the fastest-ever women's half marathon on American soil, moving to No. 9 on the all-time world list as she shattered the course record with a 66:29 to win.

New Zealand's Kim Smith set the previous allcomers record of 67:11 in 2011 at Philadelphia, while the course record of 68:26 was set in 2012 by Belyanesh Olijara of Ethiopia.

Wacera, who collected $45,000 for her recordsetting win, made a move just after the 15-kilometer mark to take the lead from fellow Kenyan Cynthia Limo. She established a six-second gap over the next 5K and stretched the margin to 12 seconds at the finish. Limo's 66:41 moved her to 11th on the all-time world list.

2015 world marathon champion, Mare Dibaba of Ethiopia, was also faster than the existing course record with a 1:07:55 in third, as was fourth-placer Ruti Aga of Ethiopia, who clocked 68:07. Sara Hall was the top American woman, setting a lifetime best with her 70:07 in fifth.

Lelisa Desisa of Ethiopia ran the third-fastest men's time ever at Houston, winning by eight seconds with his 60:37. Mosinet Geremew of Ethiopia was the runner-up at 60:45, and Luke Puskedra took the top U.S. spot in fourth at 61:29.

Men's Winner: Leonard Korir 1:01:14

Women's Winner: Veronicah Wanjiru (Kenya)

1:07:58

Finishers: 11,414

Leonard Korir of the United States outleaned race record-holder Feyisa Lilesa of Ethiopia in the Aramco Houston Half Marathon on a humid, windy morning that hampered times in the longer races.

Veronicah Nyaruai Wanjiru of Kenya helped control the pace through the early stages of the women's half marathon and then rolled out to a 12-second lead over Dera Dida Yami of Ethiopia by the 15K mark. Nyaruai's move dropped defending champion and race record-holder Mary Wacera of Kenya, and Jordan Hasay of the U.S. had moved up to fifth. Running by herself, Nyaruai added six seconds to her margin by 20K, with Hasay up to third. The last stretch saw Nyaruai lose some of her lead to Dida Yami, but she had enough to finish in 67:58, the fourth-fastest time in race history. That earned her a $10,000 time bonus.

Wacera passed Hasay to finish third in 68:38, but the former Oregon all-American shattered the American race record in fourth with her 68:40 that put her at No. 6 on the all-time U.S. list.

The most exciting finish of the day came from Korir and Lilesa, who elbowed each other as they approached the line. Korir came away with the win as both men were awarded a time of 61:14. A group of 10 men went through 10K in 28:51, and by the next 5K mark Korir and Lilesa were nine seconds back of Yigrem Demelash and Samsom Gebreyohannes.

Fikadu Tsadik and Hiskel Tewelde Ghebru were in a group of four with Korir and Lilesa at 20K, but all eyes went to the pair of Korir and Lilesa down the final stretch. The duo made a mad dash to the tape to finish three seconds ahead of Ghebru and Tsadik, with Korir clocking the sixth-fastest time in race history. Wanjiru and Korir each picked up $20,000 for their victories in the Aramco Houston Half Marathon.

Men's Winner: Jake Robertson (New Zealand)

1:00:01

Women's Winner: Ruti Aga (Ethiopia) 1:06:39

Finishers: 11,088

In the 16th year of the Aramco Houston Half Marathon, late entrant Jake Robertson of New Zealand won in 1:00:01, the third-fastest time in race history, while Ruti Aga of Ethiopia won the women's race in 1:06:39—not only the second-fastest time in race history, but also the second-fastest time ever run on U.S. soil. The winners each earned a first-place prize of $20,000, plus time bonuses.

Setting an American record in the Aramco Houston Half Marathon was Molly Huddle, whose time of 1:07:25 in finishing seventh broke the mark of 1:07:34 set by Deena Kastor in 2006. En route, she also broke American records at 10 miles and 20K pending ratification. Huddle's record-breaking performance means that both the men's and women's American records have been set here in Houston.

The half marathon saw Robertson, who has lived and trained in Kenya since he was 17, pull away from Guye Adola just before 20K. He kept the hammer down through the finish, trying to dip under the magic 60-minute mark before winning in a time that tied his personal best.

"Wow ... the best in the world," he said afterward. "The whole caliber of the field, I'm speechless. It's an amazing feeling."

Finishing as top American was Sam Chelanga, sixth in a personal best 1:00:37, while Bernard Lagat, 43, set an American masters record, winning the masters division in 1:02:00 and placing 15th overall. Lagat's time is also the fastest ever run in the world by a 43-year-old, according to the Association of Road Racing Statisticians.

The women's half marathon was both fast and deep. Before Mary Wacera shattered the event record for the Aramco Houston Half Marathon by running 1:06:29 in 2016 for the fastest half marathon ever on U.S. soil, the event record was 1:08:26. In today's race, a remarkable seven women bettered that time, with Aga's 1:06:39 now ranking as the second fastest ever run in this country.

Asked what she would do with her prize money, Aga said she would use it to build a house. Caroline Chepkoech of Kenya was runner-up in 1:06:48, the fourth-fastest time in race history, with the next five women all breaking into the top 10 all-time here.

Setting a national record for Saudi Arabia with a time of 1:26:47 was Sarah Attar, who in 2012 was among the first two women to compete at the Olympics for her country.

Huddle, 33, is among them. A 25-time national champion and two-time Olympian, Huddle set the American record for 10,000 meters when she finished sixth in Rio in 2016. In November, after winning the USA 5K championships at the NYRR Dash to the Finish Line 5K, Huddle declared her intention to run here under 68 minutes, a time that would overtake Kastor's mark. She ran with the leaders through 10 miles, but said she was worried about falling off record pace after that.

"This has to be one of the deepest halfs in the country for women, ever, and to be in that race and to be fit and ready for it is lucky, is awesome," she said. "So even when I was hurting, I was like, just hang on to these women. They're all here today. It was a great day for the women."

Of the American record, Huddle said: "It means a lot. To be in the company of Deena Kastor, who had such a great marathon career, gives me a lot of confidence, and that's a really special feeling. Deena has really set the bar high for us."

2019

Men's Winner: Shura Kitata (Ethiopia) 1:00:11 Women's Winner: Brigid Kosgei (Kenya) 1:05:50 Finishers: 12,614

The 17th Aramco Houston Half Marathon again lived up to its reputation for being flat and fast, with Brigid Kosgei running the fastest half marathon ever on U.S. soil.

In winning the women's half marathon in 1:05:50, Kosgei shattered the previous course record of 1:06:29, set by Mary Wacera at this race in 2016. Although pleased with her 45-second personal best, the 24-year-old Kenyan, winner of the 2018 Bank of America Chicago Marathon, said she had been hoping to clock an even-faster time.

"If not for the coldness, I would have run 64 (minutes, or 1:04)," she said. The world record is 1:04:51.

By 15K, Kosgei and compatriot Fancy Chemutai had a 17-second lead over defending champion Ruti Aga of Ethiopia and Kosgei soon pulled ahead for good. Chemutai, who owns the second-fastest half marathon time in history, would finish second in 1:06:48, the fifth-fastest time ever run in the U.S., and Aga third in 1:06:56, the eighth-fastest – giving the Aramco Houston Half Marathon the eight fastest times ever run on U.S. soil.

It almost saw another American record, as well, with Emily Sisson just missing the mark of 1:07:25 set here last year by her training partner, Molly Huddle. Nonetheless, Sisson's 1:07:30, good for fifth place, makes her the second-fastest American woman in history.

"I've got some mixed feelings," said Sisson, who ran without a watch. "I was a little disappointed at first, just to come so close to Molly's record. But I think tomorrow I'll be pretty happy with it."

In the men's half marathon, Shura Kitata of Ethiopia outlasted Jemal Yimer, the third-fastest half marathoner in history, surging ahead in the final kilometer to win by three seconds, in 1:00:11. Behind Yimer (1:00:14) was Bedan Karoki of Kenya in 1:00:18.

"The weather was not friendly," said Kitata, of an early slow pace. "I couldn't relax. But later on ... I was very confident that I would finish it well."

The top American finisher was Reed Fischer, 10th in a personal best of 1:02:06.

"When you come to run Houston, you come to run fast," said Fischer, 23, of Boulder.

For the win, Kosgei and Kitata each earned $20,000. Kosgei also took home a bonus of $10,000 for running faster than 1:09, while Kitata nabbed an extra $5,000 for running under 1:00:30.

2020

Men's Winner: Jemal Yimer (Ethiopia) 59:25

Women's Winner: Hitomi Niiya (Japan) 1:06:38

Finishers: 13,449

Hitomi Niiya (JPN) entertained fans with a solo performance to the finish. She took command of the race immediately, and, running alongside pacer, Tsuyoshi Ugachi (JPN), she smashed both her personal best and the Japanese national record to win in the third fastest time in Aramco Houston Half Marathon history, 1:06:38. Brillian Kipkoech (KEN) finished a distant second in 1:08:08, and Caroline Chepkoech Kipkirui (KEN) rounded out the top three in 1:08:13.

While the women's race lacked drama, the men's race more than made up for it. A pack of 14 men rolled through the first 5K on pace to break the course record (59:22), and the pack remained strong at five over the final mile of the race. The 2019 runner-up, Jemal Yimer (ETH), dug the deepest to win in 59:25, producing the second fastest time ever run in Houston and North America. Bernard Ngeno (KEN) was a step behind in 59:26, and Shardrack Korir (KEN) set a personal best to finish third in 59:27.

Americans Sara Hall and Jared Ward hit the line as the top Americans. While Hall finished well ahead of the next American in ninth place and a personal best in 1:08:58, Ward out-sprinted Reed Fischer and Nicolas Montanez to capture the top American spot by one second. Overall, 27 American women and 30 American men met the qualifying standard to compete in the U.S. Olympic Marathon Trials in February 2020 in Atlanta

Matt and Andrew Leach of Great Britain broke the Guinness world record for the fastest father-son duo in the half marathon. Collectively, they ran 2:14:05. The previous record stood at 2:20:33. Matt ran 1:02:55, and Andrew ran 1:11:10.

Canadian Callum Neff competed as the Last Runner Starting to raise funds for the Houston Marathon Foundation. He started behind the entire half marathon and marathon open field, and somehow managed to finish with a net time of 1:09:59. Neff holds the Guinness record for the fastest marathon run while pushing a jogging stroller, 2:31:21.

Finishers: 3,368

The Houston Marathon Committee and the City of Houston announced the difficult decision to transition the traditional in-person Aramco Houston Half Marathon to a virtual running event in 2021 in light of the COVID-19 pandemic. Nearly 10,000 runners registered to run #togetherfromanywhere to complete their virtual distance over the course of a 10-day period.

2022

Women's Winner: Vicoty Chepngeno (1:05:03) Men's Winner: Milkesa Mengesha (1:00:24)

Finishers: 11,247

The 2022 Aramco Houston Marathon was the fastest women's half marathon ever run in the United States and rewrote the record books for the event. Six of the eight fastest women's times in event history were run in 2022.

Vicoty Chepngeno not only smashed Brigid Kosgei's course record by 47 seconds, but her 1:05:03 is the fastest time ever run in any race in the country.

fastest time ever run in any race in the country.
"I wanted to run my best time," she said of her strategy to take the race out from the start. However, she added, she was surprised to run so much faster than 1:07:22, her previous best mark.

Chepngeno wasn't the only runner breaking records. Second place finisher Sara Hall made it known prior to the race that she would be chasing the American record of 1:07:25 set in Houston by Molly Huddle in 2018. Hall broke away from the chase pack at 15K and hammered the last four miles of the race to finish in 1:07:15.

"It's incredible," she said of not only breaking the record by 10 seconds but doing so on the same course where her husband set the men's record in 2007, a record that still stands. "It's something I've dreamed of doing. Our lives were never the same after that day, so it's always a special memory here in Houston."

Finishing third was Dom Scott of South Africa in 1:07:32.

The men's race came down to a sprint between 21-year-old Milkesa Mengesha of Ethiopia and John Korir of Kenya. Mengesha, a 2020 Olympian in the 10,000, held on winning by just three seconds in 1:00:24. Less than 20 seconds back was another sprint finish. Wilfred Kimitei of Kenya battled side by side with Kirubel Erassa of the United States. Kimitei outleaned Erassa for third, but both were given the time of 1:00:42.

2023

Women's Winner: Hiwot Gebrekidan (1:06:28) Men's Winner: Leul Gebresilase (1:00:34)

Finishers: 13,027

The women's half marathon was a run for records. Hiwot Gebrekiden of Ethiopia said she was aiming for the course record of 1:05:03 while American Emily Sisson was looking to win and lower her own American record of 1:07:11.

Gebrekiden attacked the course early and alone, going through the five-mile mark well under record pace while Sisson stayed 30 seconds back. Gebrekiden's pace slowed and the record fell out of reach, but the gap she had opened up secured her the victory in 1:06:28. Sisson came through the finish chute seconds later as a roaring crowd cheered her to a second place finish in 1:06:52, shattering the record she set just nine months earlier.

The men's half marathon finish was one of the closest and most exciting in race history. With one mile to go, Leul Gebresilase of Ethiopia and Wesley Kiptoo of Kenya had turned the race into a duel, trading surges going into the final turn. Kiptoo, a standout while at lowa State, looked to have the advantage. Then suddenly, with just meters before the finish, Gebresilase slipped by to break the tape winning by a margin of almost half a second, finishing at 1:00:34.

READY, SET, RUN FOR A REASON

Crossing the finish line of the Chevron Houston Marathon, Aramco Houston Half Marathon or We Are Houson 5K is the culmination of the hard work and training runners put into preparation for their race. By participating in the Chevron Houston Marathon Run for a Reason charity program, the hard work does more than get runners to the finish line; it offers help and hope to the thousands of people who benefit from the charities in the program.

Linking runners with more than 60 non-profits, the Chevron Houston Marathon Run for a Reason charity program provides an avenue for race participants, individuals and organizations to collect donations on behalf of an official charity. In addition, the program offers a platform for charities to raise awareness and educate others about their important cause.

The Run for a Reason Program surpassed $36 million raised for local non-profits since its inception in 1995. Prizes are awarded to the top fundraisers based on total number of dollars raised.

HOUSTON MARATHON FOUNDATION

About Us

The Houston Marathon Foundation, founded in 2007, is committed to supporting the advancement of running as an element of a healthy lifestyle; with a primary focus on providing support to the Houston running community, by creating opportunities for youth who have limited access to fitness opportunities. The youth of this program discover the life-changing benefits of long-distance running. A secondary and equal focus of the foundation is to promote participation and accessibility for participants with disabilities and to support the development of United States elite athletes nation-wide through scholarship and program funding initiatives.

One of those initiatives funded and created by the HMF is the We Run Houston after-school running program. This after-school program provides coaching support to approximately 800 students annually, who have limited access to fitness opportunities. These young athletes train to participate in the annual Houston Marathon Weekend of Events.

Our Mission

The mission of the Houston Marathon Foundation is to support the advancement of running as an element of a balanced, healthy lifestyle in the Houston community and nationally.

Dominic Ondoro is a two-time winner of the 2023 Chevron Houston Marathon. Last year, he out sprinted Tsedat Ayana and leaned into the finish tape to claim the title by less than one second. It was the closest finish in the marathon since 1996. Ondoro, a Kenyan Citizen, lives and trains in Grand Prairie, Texas. Ondoro is a four-time winner of the Medtronic Twin Cities Marathon and a two-time winner of the Grandma's Marathon in Duluth, Minnesota. He holds the course record for both events.

Tsedat Ayana Age: 27

Citizenship: Ethiopia Personal Best: 2:06:18

History in this race: 2nd, 2023 (2:10:37)

Tsedat Ayana returns to Houston this year with redemption on his mind. He finished second in the 2023 Chevron Houston Marathon with the closest finish in this race's history. Ayana was stride for stride with Dominic Ondoro, making the final turn onto Lamar Street. As the pair approached the finish tape, Ondoro was able to gain a step on Ayana and won by less than a second. Later that year, Ayana took home a victory, winning the Dalian Marathon in China. He's also won marathons in Seville (2019) and Riga (2018). He was the fourth-place finisher in the 2021 Boston Marathon.

Zouhair Talbi Age: 28

History in this race: Debut (Aramco Houston Half Marathon: 5th, 2023, 1:01:08; 14th, 2022, 1:02:01)

Zouhair Talbi kicked off his 2023 racing season with a new personal best in the half marathon when he finished 5th here in Houston. Three months later, he made his marathon debut, placing 5th in the Boston Marathon in 2:08:35, one spot ahead of Eluid Kipchoge. After dropping out of November's TCS New York City Marathon, he looks for a return to form in the Chevron Houston Marathon. Born in Morocco, Talbi competed for the Moroccan national cross-country team for five years before moving to the United States. At Oklahoma City University, he was the 2020 NAIA Cross Country Champion. He represented Morocco in the 3000m at the 2022 World Indoor Championship and in the 10,000m at the 2022 World Outdoor Championship.

Patrick Tiernan

Age: 29

Citizenship: Australia Personal Best: 2:11:02

History in this race: Debut (Aramco Houston Half Marathon: 6th, 2022, 1:00:55, 6th, 2019, 1:01:22)

Patrick Tiernan is the second fastest Australian ever in the half marathon thanks to his 1:00:55 finish where he placed 6th in the 2022 edition of the Aramco Houston Half Marathon. The 2016 NCAA Cross Country Champion from Villanova is looking for that same kind of success when he takes on the Chevron Houston Marathon. In his last attempt at the distance, Tiernan ran 2:11:02 to finish 16th in the 2022 Bank of America Chicago Marathon. Tiernan has represented Australia at the last two Olympic Games. During the 10,000m in Tokyo, he collapsed twice from heat exhaustion, yet still finished the race.

Deresa Geleta

Age: 28

Citizenship: Ethiopia Personal Best: 2:05:51

History in this race: Debut

In what will be his first race in North America, Geleta comes to the Chevron Houston Marathon with the fastest personal best time in the field and will race on his 28th birthday. Deresa Geleta has run 14 marathons since 2017. It's the only distance he's raced and of those 14, he has ten, top ten finishes including two victories. In 2023, he was runner-up at the Dubai Marathon in February and won the Beijing Marathon in October.

James Ngandu

Age: 33

Citizenship: Kenya

Personal Best: 2:10:17

History in this race: 7th, 2023 (2:14:28); 1st, 2022 (2:11:03); (Aramco Houston Half

Marathon: 19th, 2020, 1:01:45; 9th, 2019, 1:01:51

James Ngandu came back to Houston last year as the defending champion of the Chevron Houston Marathon. On an unseasonably warm day, he finished seventh in 2:14:28. Since graduating from Tiffin University in Ohio in 2019, Ngandu has been a familiar face at road races across the United States. His 2022 Houston appearance was his marathon debut. Ngandu has won half marathons in Columbus, OH and Philadelphia as well as finished third at the 2022 Grandma's Marathon in Duluth, Minnesota with a new personal best of 2:10:17. Ngandu took home 5th place in 2023 when he returned to race in Duluth.

Elisha Barno

In 2022, she was the bronze medalist in the World Championship Marathon in Eugene and the runner up at both the Nagoya Women's Marathon in Japan and the TCS New York City Marathon. Last year, she placed 4th at the World Championships in Budapest and was 3rd in the Boston Marathon. A two-time Olympian representing Israel where she lives and trains, Salpeter has won marathons in Tokyo, Firenze, Italy and Prague. Just a month after winning bronze in the 2022 World Championship Marathon, she won the bronze in the 10,000m at the European Championships.

Edna Kiplagat

Age: 44

Citizenship: Kenya Personal Best: 1:07:41

History in this race: Debut

Few runners have stood atop more marathon podiums than Edna Kiplagat. Kiplagat is a two-time World Champion, two-time Boston Marathon champion, New York City Marathon champion and London Marathon champion. With her 2021 victory in Boston at age 41, she became the oldest person to ever win an Abbott World Marathon Major. Last year she was 9th in the New York City Marathon. Despite racing half marathons and marathons around the world since 2005, this is Kiplagat's first time racing in Houston.

Sara Hall Age: 40

Citizenship: United States (Flagstaff, AZ)

Personal Best: 1:07:15

History in this race: 2nd, 2022 (1:07:15); 9th, 2020 (1:08:58); 11th, 2017 (1:12:47); 5th, 2016 (1:10:07); 4th, 2015 (1:10:50); 11th, 2014 (1:13:38)

The last time Sara Hall raced in Houston; she made history. In 2022, Hall finished with a time of 1:07:15 as the runner up in the Aramco Houston Half Marathon, which at the time was the American Record for the distance. Hall will return for a seventh time this year as she prepares for the U.S. Olympic Team Trials - Marathon in Orlando next month. Last spring, just one day after turning 40, Hall ran 2:25:48 at the Boston Marathon, the fastest time ever run by an American Masters runner at the historic race. In 2022, Hall was the top American finisher in the World Championship Marathon when she placed 5th. She was third in the 2021 Bank of America Chicago Marathon and the runner-up at the 2020 London Marathon. She lives in Flagstaff with her husband Ryan Hall - who set the still-standing men's American Record for the half marathon (59:43) here in 2007 - and their four daughters.

Hiwot Gebrekidan

Age: 28

Citizenship: Ethiopia Personal Best: 1:06:28

History in this race: 1st, 2023 (1:06:28)

In her Aramco Houston Half Marathon debut last year, Gebrekidan made it known she was attacking the course record of 1:05:03. She went out hard and alone, well ahead of that pace at the five-mile mark. Her pace slowed and the record fell out of reach, but she still won in 1:06:28, the third fastest time in race history. Gebrekidan will defend her title this year less than six weeks after finishing third in a new personal best of 2:17:59 at the Valencia Marathon. In April of 2023, she finished 8th in the Boston Marathon.
